GIRL'S PLANS TOLD BY MARIE BOLDUC'S AUNT

Miss Elizabeth Bolduc of Manchester, N. H., aunt of the late Marie Bolduc, was the third government witness to-day at the trial of the four defendants in the Bolduc case.

She testified that Marie told her, before leaving Manchester for Boston, that arrangements were "all made" for Marie to be admitted to a Boston hospital.

When Miss Bolduc was called to the stand an argument ensued between Assistant District Attorney Lavelle and Edward F. Barry, of counsel for the defence, whether testimony relating to what the dead girl had told her aunt should be admitted. The jury was dismissed for twenty minutes. Judge Sanderson ruled that this testimony is admissible and Mr. Lavelle proceeded with his questioning.

"Marie told me," said the aunt, "that she was going to Boston for treatment. I loaned her $10 two weeks before she went. She told me that arrangements were all made for her to be admitted to a Boston hospital."

The aunt also testified that Marie consulted a Dr. Shotrand of Manchester but that he did not treat her.

Only Five Women Spectators.

Only five women were among the many spectators when the trial was resumed before Judge Sanderson and jury in the Suffolk Superior Criminal Court to-day. When the trial began yesterday Judge Sanderson gave warning that "offensive testimony" might come out. He ordered that no minors be allowed among the spectators. Mature persons could use their own discretion. None of the women in court yesterday left at this warning, but to-day there was a noticeable falling off in the feminine attendance.

The defendants are being tried on charges relating to the death of Miss Marie Bolduc of Manchester, N. H., whose body was found December 22, last, at the home of Mrs. Jeanie H. Shattuck, No. 47 Woodlawn street, Forest Hills. Mrs. Shattuck is charged with being an accessory after the fact to illegal medical treatment upon the dead girl. Dr. John D. Ferguson of Manchester, N. H., is charged with being an accessory before and after the fact. Mrs. Annie M. Reed of Boston and Miss Mary A. O'Neil, Dr. Ferguson's comely young secretary, are charged with being principals.

Mrs. Hazlitt on Stand.

Mrs. Hattie M. Heslitt of Cambridge resumed the witness stand when court opened to-day. Mrs. Heslitt had been charged as accessory in the case but the charge against her was dismissed. She appeared as a government witness.

Mrs. Heslitt was cross-examined by Edward F. Barry and John Feeney, attorneys of counsel for the defense. She testified that she was working at the Shattuck house at times, but received no regular wages. She said that she did not know of Miss Bolduc's death till the Thursday following the Tuesday on which the death occurred.

She was questioned on points regarding which she testified yesterday. Assistant District Attorney Thomas A. Lavelle objected to some of the questions, saying the attorneys for the defence were "killing time."

Mr. Barry replied: "I am just as anxious as you are to have the case go on."

742 LONGSHOREMEN AS FUNERAL ESCORT

The largest funeral escort ever given to a member of the longshoremen assemblies, turned out to-day, when 742 striking longshoremen escorted the body of James Burns, a former associate, from the Church of the Holy Redeemer, East Boston, to the Chelsea Bridge, from which point a still larger delegation will turn out at the funeral of Harry Rust, which will be held from St. Mary's Church, East Boston, this afternoon.

FRENCH STEAMSHIP SEIZED BY ITALIANS

MARSEILLES, Jan. 19.—Another French vessel was seized to-day by the Italians. The mail steamship Manouba, bound for Tunis, was held up by an Italian cruiser and taken into port at Cagliari, on the ground that she was carrying contraband of war.

SALEM DEMOCRATS INDORSE GOV. FOSS FOR PRESIDENCY

The Salem Democratic City Committee indorses Governor Foss for the Presidency. The committee has elected new officers as follows: James J. Welch, chairman; James T. Murphy, first vice-chairman; John F. Sweeney, second vice-chairman; Cornelius F. Harrington, treasurer, and John L. Hayes, secretary.

SIX CHILDREN WITHOUT FOOD

A pitiful condition of affairs was brought to light in the South Boston District Court to-day when Martin Conley, forty years old, of No. 171 Baxter street, South Boston, was arraigned before Associate Justice Edward L. Logan on a charge of drunkenness. He was placed on probation.

Probation Officer Clayton H. Parmelee reported to the Court that when he went to Conley's home early to-day, he found six little children huddled together, the youngest, four months old, being cared for by the oldest, nine years of age. There was no furniture in the tenement, he said, with the exception of one bed and two old chairs. There was absolutely no fuel in the house to keep the children warm, and there was no food.

Mother Earns but Little.

Parmelee went out and bought food for the children and also some fuel.

When asked about their mother the children told the probation officer that she had obtained work scrubbing floors, about a week ago, but what she earned was hardly sufficient to pay the rent and get a little food occasionally for the family.

Conley said he had been out of work for some time, and that he had done his best to obtain employment. He met some friends last night who invited him to have a drink, and being hungry and discouraged, he accepted the invitation. He said that he did not drink much, but owing to his famished condition the liquor took quick effect on him.

Police Will Give Aid.

Conley was placed on probation, and charitable people in the South Boston district, including the probation officer, will try to get him something to do between now and Monday.

Captain Hugh Lee, of Station 6, when informed of the state of affairs at Conley's home said he would provide food at the family and do whatever he could to alleviate their distress.

"NO RECONCILIATION," SAYS MRS. CRUIKSHANK

POTSDAM, N. Y., Jan. 19.—For the first time since the reappearance of her husband, when she and he sang thought dead, Mrs. Barton Cruikshank talked for publication at her home here. She said emphatically that there can be no reconciliation between her and her husband, who was lately discovered living in New York under the name of Donald Douglas. Mrs. Cruikshank insisted that she always believed that her husband was drowned in the St. Lawrence River. "I was honestly convinced that he was dead," she said. "I wish he had been."

LOSES WALLET AND $250 WHILE ON CAR

William H. Wynacht of No. 396 C street, Quincy, reported to the police at the Dudley street station that his wallet containing $250 had been stolen. Wynacht was a passenger on a Quincy car and entered it at the Dudley street terminal. It was not until the car had left the station that he discovered the wallet was missing.

SCHOONER WRECKED; CREW MAY PERISH

NORFOLK, Va., Jan. 19.—A large coasting schooner was wrecked to-day on the dangerous Hatteras coast known as the "Graveyard of Ships," and at last report the crew was in great peril, clinging to the boat for their lives, while life-savers in vain sought to reach them through mountainous seas.

ROMANCE OF MRS. GARDNER'S PROTEGE ENDS

George W. Proctor, the pianist and protege of Mrs. "Jack" Gardner and his bride of ten months have separated.

Intimate friends of Mr. and Mrs. Proctor, it is said, predicted the outcome months ago. They say a break was inevitable. A too close similarity of musical temperaments and pursuits are given as the causes.

"Too much mother-in-law," say the friends of young Mrs. Proctor.

Three weeks ago Mrs. Proctor left the pretty white cottage at Chestnut Hill overlooking the reservoir, which Mrs. Gardner built and fitted out for Proctor and his mother a few years ago. It is located on the Gardner estate. Mrs. Proctor has been stopping with friends in Brookline and later in Boston.

She made her last visit to the cottage Wednesday, when she is reported to have packed up her personal effects and wedding presents, including articles of silver belonging to her. Mrs. Proctor made a hurried farewell call on friends in Brookline and Boston to-day and left on the noon train for Albany.

Gone to Grandparents.

She has gone to her grandparents' home in Cambridge, N. Y., a town not far from the capital.

"Nothing whatever to say about it," said Mr. Proctor, to-day. "My private affairs concern me and nobody else, and there is no reason why I should talk about them."

Asked if it were true that his wife had left him, he declined either to confirm or deny the reports.

Friends of Mrs. Proctor, however, were more communicative.

The wedding of Proctor to his young pupil at the Conservatory was surrounded with all the elements of a romance in real life.

Pupil of Fiance.

When she became engaged to George W. Proctor, Miss Marguerite L. Burtt was assistant librarian at the New England Conservatory of Music and a piano pupil of her fiance. She is talented and pretty.

Mr. Proctor was well known because of the interest given him by Mrs. Gardner, who is the foremost patroness of the fine arts in Boston.

Miss Burtt had been in Boston about six years studying music, formerly as a pupil of Edwin Klare and Charles Anthony.

They were mutually attracted at their first meeting. Miss Burt gave up her work at the Conservatory and devoted herself entirely to Mr. Proctor's tuteinge. He was eager about her musical advancement. They were often seen together at public functions and recitals with Mrs. "Jack" Gardner and at the opera.

Married in Gothic Chapel.

Miss Burtt's friends considered her most fortunate to become concerned in such a promising alliance and to have received the favors of Mrs. Gardner. Miss Burtt was twenty-five when they were married and Mr. Proctor thirty-six.

The ceremony took place March 20 last in the Gothic chapel in Mrs. Gardner's Italian art palace in the midst of simple elegance—the first and only marriage ever held in the famous temple of art treasures.

SAVED FROM JAIL BY FORGIVING WIFE

John Canavan, twenty-three years old, No. 186 Bowen street, South Boston, may thank the forgiving spirit of his wife, that he was not sent away for a long term by Boston District Court to-day. Canavan was arraigned on the charge of drunkenness and assault and battery on his wife. Mrs. Canavan, a frail woman, fondling a baby in her arms, told how her husband had beaten and kicked her. Judge Logan said such men as he ought to be put away and punished severely, but he gave Canavan another chance to be decent and support his family, and placed his case on file.

HEAR ARGUMENTS IN SUIT FOR MILLIONS

Next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday Judges Putnam, Aldrich and Brown will hear the arguments in the appeal of the suit of the Western Union Telegraph Company against the American Bell Telephone Company, in the Circuit Court of Appeals. The suit was started in 1880 over licenses granted under a contract of November 10, 1879. Judge Colt of the Circuit Court decided in favor of the Bell Company, the telephone company being ordered to pay $3,141,529 and to transfer 38,629 shares of the stock to the Western Union.

FEDERAL SUIT AGAINST THE ERIE

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 19.—The government to-day entered suit against the Erie Railroad, charging sixteen violations of the Federal law regulating the hours of labor for railroad employes.

Mrs. George W. Proctor, Who Separated from Her Husband

Mr. Proctor, to whom Mrs. Proctor was married ten months ago, is a pianist and a protege of Mrs. "Jack" Gardner, the well-known Back Bay society leader.

KELIHER PLEA TURNED DOWN

Judge Braley in the Supreme Court today overruled the demurrer filed by counsel for William J. (Big Bill) Keliher to the bill brought by former-Governor John L. Bates, receiver for the National City Bank of Cambridge, to recover from the Massachusetts Bonding and Assurance Company, which went bail for Keliher at the time of his arrest. Receiver Bates maintains that Keliher received some of the $185,000 stolen by George W. Coleman from the bank, and that part of these funds were put up as security for Keliher's bond.

The receiver's bill was attacked on several points, the principal one being that the property alleged to have been turned over to the bonding company by Keliher was not sufficiently described, as required by the statute. There was no allegation of how much cash had been deposited by Keliher with the bonding company, or how many securities or the nature of them.

KEYES GETS LIFE TERM FOR MURDER

PITTSFIELD, Jan. 19.—Judge Crosby in the Superior Court to-day, sentenced Lewis Keys, a negro, to life imprisonment in the Charlestown state prison, after he had pleaded guilty to an indictment of murder in the second degree in causing the death of Ernest Hays, also a negro, in Washington, a small town near here, on November 4, 1911. Keys shot Hays, who was a fellow workman on the dam the city of Pittsfield is building at Washington Mountain, during a dispute over a card game.

ICE CARNIVAL NOTICE!

The ice carnival which was to be held by the AMERICAN on Charles River Basin to-morrow afternoon has been postponed to next Monday afternoon at the Boston Arena on St. Botolph street. See carnival story on page 10 for full details.

SLUSH FILLS CITY STREETS

Boston's streets were in almost impassable condition to-day. Even Mayor Fitzgerald and Commissioner of Public Works Rourke admitted that fact.

The cold wave formed small rivers of snow and slush at the crosswalks and along the car tracks and gutters in all sections of the city, making it almost impossible for pedestrians to escape with dry feet.

The Mayor noticed the bad conditions on his way to City Hall and immediately after arriving at his office he summoned Commissioner Rourke.

The Mayor said he did not think the Boston Elevated had done its duty in the recent snow storm, with the result that conditions in many of the streets where the Elevated tracks are laid were unbearable. He told Commissioner Rourke to get in touch with the Boston Elevated officials at once and ask them to co-operate with the Public Works Department in remedying the situation.

At a result the Boston Elevated has given instructions to hire all the men possible and put them into every street in the city where the street cars operated.

The Mayor, furthermore, requested the commission to hire extra men and put them into the main thoroughfares and side streets where the Elevated does not operate, with the object of clearing out the gutters so that the rain and melting snow could be carried into the sewers.

PERSIAN OFFICIALS INSULT AMERICAN

TEHERAN, Persia, Jan. 19.—Since the departure of the former treasurer-general, W. Morgan Shuster, the Cabinet's communications to the American officials appear to have become increasingly provocative and insulting in tone. It is generally believed that the intention of the Cabinet is to induce the Americans voluntarily to abandon their contracts. The foreign minister has sent a scathing reprimand to F. E. Cairns, who temporarily succeeded Mr. Shuster in the Treasury Department, for entering into direct communication with the British, Russian and American legations regarding previous Government communications.

BREAD RIOTS AND SUFFERING IN LAWRENCE

LAWRENCE, Jan. 19.—While the State Board of Arbitration, the City Council, business men of Lawrence and industrial experts were conferring as to how the textile strike could be settled to-day, about 3,000 English-speaking operatives walked out, thus crippling every woolen mill in Lawrence.

So far as the strikers are concerned, judging by Strike Leader Ettor's position, the strike will not be settled until the strikers get all that they demand. No mill man could be found to-day who was willing to make a single concession.

FAMILIES ON VERGE OF STARVATION.

In the meantime many of the families that depended upon the mills for their living are on the ve rge of starvation.

Members of the local battery company, which has been on duty all week, have shown a reluctance for this kind of work. It became known to-day that a number of the company had refused to appear for strike duty. Militia men were sent out from the armory to-day with orders to arrest all those who had refused to appear for duty, if it were necessary, but in any event to bring them to the armory.

The saloons were thrown open to-day after a three days' thirst, and they were soon all jammed.

Police Guard Mayor.

Mayor Michael A. Scanlon of Lawrence to-day received word that his life was in danger from dynamite as a result of his action in connection with the strike.

The Mayor received the threat at his home. He summoned a police guard to accompany him to City Hall. From fifteen minutes before the Mayor lives, to City Hall, Police Inspector Joseph H. Mahan walked by the Mayor's side. Other policemen walked in front and behind the Mayor. In City Hall three policemen, instead of one, were placed on guard.

Joseph J. Ettor, the strike leader, denounced the Mayor. Ettor said that Scanlon was a corporation Mayor and that he did not know his own mind over night.

"And so you have it," declared Ettor, addressing strikers, "that the soldiers are here anxious to wet their bayonets in your blood."

Three pickets were clubbed by soldiers until they toppled in the street, when they tried to rush a militia guard, to-day, at the head of Mill street, near Essex.

Efforts at ending the strike were again put in motion to-day. The City Council and committee of business men had a meeting with this end in view.

Insist on Every Demand.

Charles G. Wood, of the State Board of Arbitration, came to Lawrence to-day and make this statement:

"The strike will be settled very shortly by arbitration."

Strike Leader Ettor, replying to the talk of arbitration, said:

"This strike will not be settled until it is settled our way. We will not take back a single demand."

As Ettor's word seems to be law with the strikers the impartial observer here can't see any settlement in sight. Ettor appointed a committee to enroll strikers as members of the Industrial Workers of the World to-day. Hundreds of members were secured. They paid 25 cents each initiation.

The Wood and Ayer mills paid off and the Pacific and Arlington mills paid off in part to-day. In all about $250,000, much of it in gold, was handed out to the strikers. The money was taken from the banks to the mills in big automobile trucks, locked in steel chests. On the chests sat policemen with drawn revolvers and officers of the militia, armed. No effort was made to notice the pay wagons.

Arrest Armed Picket.

Ettore Giannini, a member of the strike committee, was arrested to-day while act-

ARREST FOSS PLOT SUSPECT

Michael Fonaro, an Italian 39 years old, whom the police believe to know something of the plot to assassinate Governor Foss of Massachusetts, was arrested in New York city to-day. He is also wanted by the Italian government in connection with the trial of the Camorrists at Viterbo.

After Fonaro was arrested three detectives searched his room but were unable to find anything connecting him with the Foss conspiracy. He was found to be armed with two revolvers, however, and was held under the anti-weapon law. He will be tried and later turned over to the government for deportation if not involved in the Massachusetts plot.

The Governor arrived at his office a little later than usual to-day. He came in at 10:12. Mr. Foss was indisposed last evening, and as a result slept a little late to-day. This is the reason given for the delay.

Dudley M. Hardman, the Governor's secretary and the man who first asked for an extra guard on the Governor's office, to-day sent word to Chief Whitney of the State police that two men would be enough from now on. The men assigned to the duty are Joseph Daly and Frank Hardiman.

The watch that has been maintained at the Governor's home was continued last night and is being continued to-day. State and city police are on the alert for the approach of suspicious appearing strangers.

Secret Service Men Come.

Secret service men are reported to be on their way from Washington to Boston to-day to take part in the hunt. The order arises from the fact that the plotters are members of an international organization, which has sent emissaries to New York to establish headquarters for working up a spirit of unrest among strikers in the Eastern part of the United States.

Joseph Daily is in charge of the Secret Service division covering Massachusetts and has already begun his investigation. The police authorities will divulge how they came into possession of the details of the plot, which is directed not only against Governor Foss, but also against Colonel Edward A. Sweetser, who is commanding the militia on duty at Lawrence.

That they not only are fully informed of the "plot" pending, but also have a good description of the principal men concerned is evident from admissions made to-day.

Widespread Search.

The search for the anarchists is not confined to Boston, but is also being prosecuted in Lawrence, where policemen and detectives are meeting every train that arrives in the city. A vigorous search is also being conducted in Everett, where Colonel Sweetser lives.

A police guard has been thrown about the Colonel's home at Hancock and Glendale streets, Everett, which will be continued as long as he is in Lawrence. The fashionable section in which he lives is in a state of terror as a result of the threats against Colonel Sweetser's life. It is feared that despite the added precautions the plotters may get a wreck at his home.

Colonel Sweetser is associate justice of the Malden District Court and is inclined to treat the threats lightly. Chief of the Everett Police William E. Hill has taken every precaution to guard against any attempt to wreck the colonel's home. Policemen are stationed at the front and rear of the residence. Others are distributed in nearby streets leading toward the colonel's home and every stranger is closely questioned before he is allowed to approach.

Even women against whom suspicion had been cast were stopped and put through a rigid examination before they were permitted to pass within striking distance of the Sweetser residence.

The police are doing everything in their power to discredit the rumor, but it is known that never before have such stringent measures been adopted in a similar emergency.

Louis D. Brandeis Writes of the Lawrence Strike for Sunday's American

Louis D. Brandeis and John Golden have prepared signed articles on the Lawrence strike situation, which will be printed exclusively in Sunday's AMERICAN. Every union man, every mill owner, every citizen of New England will find these articles of interest and value

LIFE OF THE MAYOR OF LAWRENCE THREATENED

ing as a picket at the Arlington Mills. It was charged that he stopped girls from going into the mills. The girls said that Giannini drew a revolver and said:

"You'll go home or you'll drop right here."

City Marshal Michael Murphy and his men happened along. They grabbed the strike leader and piloted him to the ground. He was taken to court and arraigned before Judge Mahoney.

While in court Giannini was recognized by Captain William A. Proctor of the State police as the man who led the strikers in front of the Washington mills on Monday, as a result of which the militia were called out.

Giannini was charged with rioting and with carrying a concealed weapon. He denied that he incited the riot at the Washington Mills.

"I was at the Washington Mills on Monday," said the prisoner, "but I counselled peace. I asked the men to go home. I quit when they left the Washington Mills and did not go to the other mills."

Giannini was sent to jail for a year on the riot charge and held in $300 for carrying a revolver. He appealed and was held in $1,500 for trial.

The three pickets who were arrested were standing at the head of Mill and Essex street. They attempted to stop girls who were going through the gate. The girls refused to listen to them and the three made a rush. The militiamen stationed at the head of the street stepped in the way, clubbed their rifles and beat the three men into submission.

They were taken in a sleigh to the hospital.

Women Fight Strikers.

Hungry strikers, men, women and children, early to-day mobbed half a dozen bread and milk wagons and took by force food to keep themselves from starving. The strike fund has exhausted their savings, and the sight of the food wagons led to several small riots.

Twenty of more women, English-speaking people, on their way to work in the Arlington Mills, were stopped by men and women pickets. After an argument, the women attempted to pass the picket lines and go on to their work. A fight followed, and the women pickets pulled their sister workers hair, scratched and fought, so that no women went to work.

The machinery in the Jackspooling room in the Arlington Mills was paralyzed in some unknown way to-day. Three hundred girls in one room were on the point of a panic. One cried, "Let's all get out!" and it was as though the words were a signal for the jackspoolers, with their twisters and 100 weavers, went home.

Chief of the Fire Department E. P. Carey, fearing an attack by the strikers, has asked Colonel E. Leroy Sweetser to furnish a guard for the supply of dynamite which the department has, or to remove it to a safe place.

The seizure of the bread and milk carried by delivery wagons was accomplished without serious violence. The drivers in every case fought valiantly for the superior numbers. Milk was either drunk from the bottles or carried to the homes of the strikers, while men and women eagerly divided the loaves of bread.

Reports have come to the police from several householders that milk has been taken from the doorsteps.

Many inquiries have been made as to what the textile workers in other cities of the State are doing about the reduction that followed the advent of the fifty-four hour law, for the reductions were made in all of the mills just as they were in the mills of Lawrence.

Peace in Other Cities.

Lowell, for instance, is only twelve miles from Lawrence, and the 20,000 textile workers there are not very well organized. They were reduced about 40 cents a week. While there was some murmurings, there has been no strike.

In New Bedford there are 30,000 mill operatives who are getting from 40 to 60 cents less a week than formerly. There has been on strike in that city.

In Fall River about 150 employes of the American Thread Works struck. But there are 35,000 operatives in the Fall River mills who lost about thirty cents a week by the 54-hour law, but refused to go out. In most of the textile centres, except Lawrence, the operatives belong to the United Textile Union, while those at Lawrence are not organized. It is not expected that there will be any strike in the organized cities.

It was reported to-day that agents from New York are canvassing the 1,500 operatives in the Naumkeag Mills at Salem in an endeavor to get them to go on strike in sympathy with the Lawrence strikers. The mill officials say no employes have remained out. The Salem mills are non-union. The Southern mills, the only branch of operatives organized.

Joseph J. Ettor, national organizer of the Industrial Workers of the World, issued a statement to-day in which he declared that there has not been nor will be any settlement of the strike except when the strikers win their demands. He said:

"The story that a settlement is near is untrue. The strike is not settled, and will not be till we win it. We will get that 15 per cent. increase, as well those in the premium and bonus systems into the canal. We will have our own way. We'll get everything we ask."

Lawrence settled down to-day for an extended strike. The first few days having passed, it is felt that the only settlement now must come when one party or the other is exhausted. The city was alarmed last night, and to-day an additional regiment of militia will be asked for.

C. G. Wood, recently appointed to the State Board of Conciliation and Arbitration, arrived here to-day to investigate the situation.

A soup kitchen has been opened by the strikers in Franco-Belgian Hall, and other similar lunch rooms are planned. The strikers have received a financial contribution of $200 from the Baker's Union.

To-day the three days' meeting which the law permits saloons to be ordered closed expired. With the opening, demands began to pour in on the city authorities that another three days' edict against the saloons be ordered.

The police are investigating the complaint of a foreign speaking man that his wife had been threatened if he went to work. He said that he had a wife and six children and that sickness in the family added to his need of employment.

The Franco-Belgians have voted also to appeal to every union in the State for funds, food and clothes.

A local newspaper which invited the strikers to submit evidence of the low wages which they claimed mill employes, including men with families, are paid for a week's work, said to-day that in response eighty-six envelopes were received.

These show the number of employes, the room and the department of mill, the time worked and the amount received. The largest amount was $7.05. The smallest was $3.06. All these envelopes represent payment for work under the old fifty-six-hour system.

Elizabeth Gurley Flynn of the Industrial Workers of the World will come here to-morrow from New York to organize the women strikers.

TWO EXPERTS TO EXAMINE BUTTS

Judge Sanderson of the Suffolk County Superior Court to-day authorized the appointment of two experts to examine into the mental condition of Harry H. Butts, colored, who is charged with the murder of Robert Williamson, also colored, at the corner of Camden street and Shawmut avenue last June. Butts is one of the prisoners at the Charles street jail who keeps watch on Richeson.

District Attorney Pelletier was on an outward bound car at the time and saw the shooting. He alighted from the car and waited until Reserve Officer J. A. Sullivan came up and placed Butts under arrest.

Joseph A. Dennison, formerly assistant district attorney of Suffolk County, is counsel for Butts. Assistant District Attorney Webber will appear for the government. Butts' trial is scheduled for next week.

To safety counsel for the defence and the government, Attorney Dennison suggested to the Court that the experts be appointed.

SIMPLE REMEDY FOR KIDNEYS

The following prescription is known to be one of the most effective obtainable for quick relief and permanent restoration of the kidneys and bladder: "Half ounce Buid extract Buchu, half ounce Murax compound, six ounces of good gin. Take one to two teaspoonfuls after each meal and at bedtime." Any druggist can mix or furnish the ingredients of this prescription.

Pain in the back, rheumatic pains, frequent and scanty urination and pains in groin are nature's warnings that the kidneys are deranged, and must have immediate attention, or serious illness, such as Bright's disease or diabetes, are likely to follow.

BIG LINERS FOR GRAND TRUNK

According to official announcement made to-day, the Grand Trunk Railroad system will build two fine steamships to carry both passengers and freight, plying between Providence and New York. These boats will surpass anything now running between Providence and New York.

The carrying out of these plans will mean that the Grand Trunk system will have connections from Canada down through the New England States, through Middlesex County to Boston, through Norfolk County to Providence and by boat to New York, and also from Canada through Palmer to Worcester, to Providence.

John S. M. Murdock, vice-president of the Southern New England Railway (and the Grand Trunk), is speaking at Providence last night, reviewed the measures thus far taken to extend the Grand Trunk Railway system into Southern New England. He said it was no sudden movement conceived in pique, nor was it actuated by any fight with other railroads, but was the result of plans which had been under consideration for fully ten years. These plans had necessarily been deferred while the greater plans of extending the Grand Trunk system from the Atlantic to the Pacific were under development.

The needs of the Grand Trunk Railway had for years regarded New England as a good traffic field which had never been fully developed, and the extension of Grand Trunk branches to the industrial and commercial centres of New England was necessary to round out the plans of this great railroad system.

Mr. Murdock said that the promoters of the Grand Trunk Railway system expected to have the system 3,000 miles in length completed by 1915, and explained the immense importance to New England of the facilities which would be afforded by Grand Trunk connections, and the advantage it would be to the great industries to have the low differential rates in conveying commodities to the great West.

Speaking of the plans to enter Boston, Mr. Murdock said that the more the Grand Trunk extensions ramify New England and afford connections with other cities in this part of the country, the better it would be for New England.

"New England will find in northwestern Canada a rich market," said Mr. Murdock. "The plan to extend the Grand Trunk system into the industrial and commercial centres of New England is the result of the forethought of the men who are directing the Grand Trunk Railway, for they saw ten years ago the possibilities for vast commercial interests being developed between this section of the United States and the great Canadian Northwest, which some day is going to be the granary of the world."

Ex-Mayor George H. Brown of Lowell, now Commissioner of Streets and Highways, has filed with City Clerk Stephen J. Flynn a set of resolutions, to be introduced at the Municipal Council meeting Monday, indorsing the entry of the Grand Trunk Railroad to Boston.

The plan of the Grand Trunk to locate in Boston has stirred South Boston to action and through the Citizens' Association has voted unanimously to favor the new road to the peninsula district. Former Congressman McNary is father of the movement and plans are being made to put the proposition before the heads of the Grand Trunk lines.

Lynn is also booming up as a rival to the Boston suburbs as a location for the new road. A conference between the Grand Trunk officials and representatives of the business men of Lynn has been held already and many and otherwise, that Lynn was really Boston and that the opportunities for terminals in that city were better than could be secured in this city.

SCHOOL PUPILS: OPERA TICKETS!

Opera tickets for high school pupils. Read the Music Page of Sunday's AMERICAN.

The Sunday AMERICAN will give twelve pairs of tickets to pupils in high schools of Boston and vicinity for the performance of the opera of "Hansel and Gretel" on Saturday afternoon, January 27. For full details of the competition through which the tickets will be given away read the Music Page of Sunday's AMERICAN.

ARRAIGN GIMMETTE ON MURDER CHARGE

Antonio Gimmette was arraigned to-day before Judge Brown in the Essex County Superior Court at Salem, charged with first degree murder of Mrs. Amelia Gimmette, with a knife, at her home in Saugus, September 15, last. Gimmette, a cousin of the dead woman, entered a plea of not guilty and was held without bail for trial at the Spring term. Counsel will be assigned him by the State.

GENERAL PEW OPERATED UPON

General William A. Pew, commander of the Second Brigade, M. V. M., was operated on to-day at the Salem Hospital by Dr. Thomas Kittredge. Last Monday he slipped and injured his knee-cap.

16-PAGE JOKE BOOK. HANDSOMELY BOUND. FREE (IN GREATER BOSTON) WITH SUNDAY'S AMERICAN.

A handsomely bound joke book, with colored covers, illustrated by Tad, the famous comic artist, inventor of the "Dadfydils" and "Silk Hat Harry," the biggest comic hits New England has ever known, will be given FREE (in Greater Boston) with every copy of Sunday's AMERICAN. This is the most interesting supplement offer ever made by a Boston Sunday newspaper. As the number of joke books is limited, it will be well to order your paper in advance from your newsdealer.

'Turkey' and 'Grizzly' Danced in Society? Perish the Thought!

Boston Leaders Have Absolutely No Interest in Latest Dance Hall "Freaks."

By ELIZABETH ELLIOTT.

The "grizzly bear" and the "turkey trot"! Shades of our prim and Puritan ancestry! Did you ever think for one moment that a real, blue-blooded, staid, sedate and always-perfectly-proper Boston society that he grizzly grizzled and the turkey trotted?

If you did, well, it simply shows that you're not in our set—for there such a thing is positively unreal of.

Imagine the "turkey" and the "grizzly" being danced at the assemblies, for instance. Just picture the stately Mrs. Bryce Allan, the haughty Mrs. Monty Sears or the dignified Mrs. Thayer prancing about in these grotesque—yes, horribly grotesque—terpsichorian stunts. Even the frisky Vincent Club girls, who are really expert lancers, turn their pretty noses skyward when asked if they dance either of these two wonders of the age. Miss Virginia Tanner calls them freak dances, not good for respectable places.

Judging from the replies when asked, they certainly do NOT, with accent on the not.

"We never heard of it, so, of course, we don't dance it," many exclaimed when asked.

"That's all foolish talk; of course, we don't dance it," others replied.

"Don't know what you're talking about," still others declared. All of which goes to show that the far-famed grizzly bear and turkey trot have not been received with open arms in the exclusive set of Boston.

"I presume in the cheap dance halls these ridiculous things, like many others, may be danced, but I hardly can conceive of respectable people dancing such freak things as I have heard of only through the newspapers," declared a handsome young matron who knows all there is to know about the doings in the inner circles.

And pretty Virginia Tanner, one of the most accomplished dancers of the Vincent Club, administered a final blow when she emphatically declared that "those freak dances were never danced in respectable places."

"Really," Miss Tanner continued, "I never heard of them until I read something about them in the papers. Any way, the regulation dances are good enough for me, and I imagine everybody else feels the same about it. I certainly never saw those dances and never heard of their being danced. I can hardly imagine Boston society bothering about such stunts. The other kind of dancing keeps me busy."

Another well-known society woman replied, when asked about it: "It's all foolishness. I don't believe anybody ever danced it anywhere except in their heads.

"I can't imagine Boston society even taking up such a crazy fad. It's the truth that Boston society doesn't dance it, never has and never will. In fact, very few have ever heard of it, and then only through the newspapers."

And so all down through the social register one finds that Boston, real Boston society at least, knows naught of this much heralded form of capering to music.

So the turkeys must rest elsewhere and the grizzlys go back to their caves. For really such social climbers will not for a moment be tolerated.

The idea of their even thinking of being received! And in Boston!

Miss Virginia Tanner, one of the most accomplished dancers in the Vincent Club, who with others in Boston society denounce the "Turkey Trot" and "Grizzly Bear" dances as "freaks."

ROB WOMEN AT COLT WEDDING

PROVIDENCE, Jan. 19.—At the Anthony-Colt wedding at St. Stephen's Church, Mrs. Joshua Wilbur, widow of Hon. Joshua Wilbur, ex-consul at Dublin, who resides at Cumberland Hill, lost a purse containing $100 and valuables worth several hundreds more. Mrs. Wilbur discovered her loss on leaving the church and went back to look for the purse.

MOTHER BANS LEAP YEAR CLUB

CENTRAL VILLAGE, Ct., Jan. 19.—In an ordinary year, when a young man exclaims, "I love you, dearest; will you be my wife?" the coy maiden blushingly answers, "Yes, but ask papa."

Conversely, the law now stands that when a maiden takes advantage of Leap Year and proposes, she shall not do so until she has asked her mamma if she may and mama has told her to go ahead.

At least the law so stands in the village of Danielson, near here, where Marie Sweetser—well named—sweet sixteen, and several of her girl friends, formed a Leap Year Club, agreeing to propose and be married this very year, no there!

Now Marie has a sweetheart, Charlie Baker, who she was certain had advanced far enough in her love tutoring to be a safe proposal, so she up and did it.

"Sure," said Charlie, just like that, and he asked her to go motoring the next day, Sunday, the next, and they had fixed the day for the wedding before Mrs. Sweetser called down-stairs.

Marie, it's half-past 9 o'clock. Tell that young fellow to go home or I'll show him."

Not being from Missouri, Charlie went. But Marie was very happy and thought she determined to share her happiness with mama yesterday.

"Mama, you know it's leap year"—she began.

"What's that got to do with you," interrupted Mrs. Sweetser.

"—I asked Charlie to—to marry me," faltered Marie, "and he consented."

"O, you did, eh?" returned Ma Sweetser accordingly. "You, in short frocks, with your hair down your back, and without even asking me—your mother. What would you live on—you and your boy? Wait till I get hold of him. Now, listen to me. First thing to-morrow you go to Charlie Baker and tell him that you release him from all promises of marriage; that it's all off and your mother says so. Do you understand me?"

"Yes, mama," said Marie weakly.

And the Danielson Leap Year Club is no more.

COURT STILL BARS DUCHESS CONSUELO

LONDON, Jan. 19.—It is learned authoritatively to-day that reports published in America asserting that the Duchess of Marlborough, who is the daughter of W. K. Vanderbilt of New York, is again persona grata in court circles are without foundation. The information is given by a high court officer that there has been no change in the official attitude toward the Duchess of Marlborough, and her name is still off the list of those receiving invitations to court functions.

When Your Back Aches Suspect the Kidneys

Backache is kidney ache in most cases. Backache comes with a dull pain because there is inflammation within. You can't be rid of the ache until you cure the cause—the kidneys. There is no better recommended remedy than Doan's Kidney Pills.

Miss Sarah A. Berry, trained nurse, 100A Main St., Malden, Mass., says: "In my profession as a trained nurse many cases of kidney disorder come to my notice. I have found Doan's Kidney Pills to be an excellent remedy in relieving the conditions arising from such disorders. They seem to act as a general regulator and tonic for almost every symptom of these derangements. I have no hesitation in giving Doan's Kidney Pills my endorsement."

Remember the name—Doan's.

POLICEWOMAN IN NEWPORT URGED

NEWPORT, Jan. 19—Prominent women of Newport, New York and Boston are backing the efforts to induce the city government to appoint a women protective officer to safeguard the young women of the city. It is reported that if the city does not appropriate the necessary money, about $2,000, the Civic League members will do so.

Miss Elles F. Mason of Boston, who has a large estate here, is president of the league. Other members are Mrs. George Gordon King, Mrs. Lorillard Spencer, Mrs. De Lancey Astor Kane, Mrs. Louis L. Lorillard, Mrs. John Jay Pyne, Mrs. Stephen B. Luce, Mrs. Edwin D. Morgan, Mrs. Hartford Powell, Miss Agnes Storer, Mrs. William W. Sherman, Mrs. Nathaniel Thayer and Mrs. George Peabody Wetmore.

Miss Harriet Thomas told a solicitor of the City Council that the league wished to do more work among young women. She said that in a canvass of more than 250 homes they found more than 100 girls, of whom 107 were unemployed. Amusements of the young women, she said, must have and the protective officer would try to avert temptations by talking to the girls or their parents, and if need be, to one of the law.

SLEEP-WALKER AWAITS A GIRL

SPRINGFIELD, Jan. 19.—Springfield claims the champion sleep-walker. He is a young man on Westfield street. He was found at 3 a. m. by a milkman. He was waiting at a trolley-stop pole, clad in pajamas, felt slippers, overcoat and silk hat. He talked readily enough, even in his sleep. He explained to the interested milkman:

"I am waiting for a car. I have waited twenty minutes. Don't see what ails the car line. I am going to meet a friend to take her to the theatre. She will wonder where I am."

The milkman mercifully shook the youth to a waking state and drove him home. The youth was appalled when he awakened.

"Say," he gasped, "I might pull off this trick some time again and get to my friend's home. That would be fierce."

The milkman advised him to see a sleep-walking specialist.

DECLARES HUSBAND WANTED TO SELL CHILD

PITTSBURG, Jan. 19.—Tears were freely shed in Judge A. R. Reid's court when Mrs. Frances B. Lisbon, suing her husband, Harry D. Lisbon, for divorce, declared that her husband wanted to sell their six-year-old daughter Margaret to an Italian count for $5,000. Judge Reid immediately granted her the divorce and she left the courtroom with her little daughter clasped to her breast.

Boston is certainly helping me raise that $600,000

I HAVE to hand it to the men of Boston. They are sure on the job to grasp a real opportunity. I announced some few days ago that on account of the unseasonable weather, the general business depression, and being obliged by the recent Filene real estate deal to occupy out-of-the-way temporary quarters in the very height of the season, I am now forced to raise $600,000 through the united efforts of my five stores in 30 days. Boston responded nobly. It didn't take 12 hours for the good news of my extraordinary price sacrifices to ring throughout Boston and the adjacent districts. The crowds are coming to take advantage of the most clean-cut clothes-buying opportunity that ever hit town. My losses will be frightful, but I must have $600,000 before the expiration of 30 days no matter what it costs me. Just think of GEORGES MODEL CLOTHES—as different from ready-mades as day is from night, and a year ahead in style—think of these superb clothes selling at the following reductions:

GOMPERS KNEW ALL, SAYS BURNS

PROVIDENCE, Jan. 19.—William J. Burns, the detective who worked up the McNamara case, left early today for New York, following his denunciation of President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor at a dinner of the Commercial Club. Mr. Burns talked at the San Francisco graft cases, then took up the dynamiting outrages and the prosecution and conviction of the McNamara brothers. Speaking of how Gompers became acquainted with the details of the dynamiting conspiracy, Burns said:

"Of course he found out all about it and, in my opinion, he knew all about it from the first day five years ago."

Mr. Burns was heard by 200 business men of this city. Among the other speakers was Sir Frederick W. Borden, minister of war in the cabinet of Sir Wilfrid Laurier of Canada.

Two police inspectors guarded the entrance to the banquet hall at the Elobe to protect Burns. After reciting the San Francisco graft case Burns took up the dynamiting outrages, saying in part:

"Corrupt Political Leader."

"Let me tell you there is a more serious condition in this country. Organized labor is under the same corrupt conditions as San Francisco was then. They have a corrupt political leader, and in order to do good they must eliminate the corrupt boss and violence. They must, above all things, make up their minds that they cannot use violence.

"When you stop to consider that the McNamaras had invented a bomb that gave them twelve hours to get away, no man was safe, and they were even just getting out of the structural iron works trade so that no open shop was safe. And consider that in less than two months after the Los Angeles Times explosion J. J. McNamara sent McManigal back to blow them up again, but he saw the men at work at the windows and declared that he could not murder them. He then went to the Baker Iron Works to blow it up, but found it so well guarded that he couldn't get at it, so he went to the Llewellyn Iron Works and blew that up."

Mr. Burns said other men were hired, ostensibly by labor unions, to make an investigation, and he said that he immediately told the Mayor not to take a single report from him. Burns, because if he did so the others would demand the evidence from him and if he would not give it up would get a special Grand Jury, have one of their attorneys appointed as an assistant district attorney and so get the evidence. This, he said, was exactly what happened.

Continuing, he declared that when the men he was after found that the payments of money to him had been stopped, they thought that the investigation was over and so went ahead, planning other explosions.

"It was difficult to get the right man," he continued. "J. J. was the man who was the real brains and when we got J. J. McNamara, organized labor could simply repudiate him and say that they had nothing to do with him.

"When we got J. J. McNamara, an Associated Press man met Samuel Gompers on a train and told him that we had J. J. under arrest, and he said, without a minute's hesitation: 'It's a frame-up.' Burns planted that dynamite story. He said that to give the prisoners a line for defense and perhaps to delude some poor half-witted fool to take a shot at Burns. Then Gompers sat at the table with other members of the board in Indianapolis and found out all about it.

"Of course, he found out all about it, and in my opinion, he knew it from the very first day, five years ago."

Gompers Was "Astounded."

Burns then went on to state what McManigal and to say about the American Federation of Labor being back of the fight, and how a sum of money and a good lawyer would immediately be placed at their disposal.

"When this came out," Mr. Burns continued, "newspaper men showed it to Gompers, and I was astounded at what he said.

You remember he said he was astounded." The speaker said he had tried to show laboring men all over the country that Gompers "lied" when he said it was a Burns "frame-up," for he declared that it it was a "frame-up," J. J. McNamara had to help him, because he bought the boxes in which dynamite was stored, the keys with which the boxes were opened and the saws with which the jacks of A. B. McNamara and the locks which they fitted were bought by J. J. McNamara. Also the strong fibres at the union headquarters, he asserted, were fixed by J. J. McNamara.

He entered briefly into the history of his indictment for kidnaping and said:

"Gompers immediately went up and down the land, saying that the kidnaping by Burns must stop, but never a word about stopping the murders. Then they had their parlies and this man who likes to be called the 'Little Napoleon' kept repeating that it was a frame-up."

Why McNamaras Confessed.

He detailed briefly the efforts which were made, when he returned to face the kidnaping indictment, to get him locked up even for an instant so that whenever he went into court in any part of the country, it could be brought up against him. "Oh, yes, you were at one time locked up for crooked work at Indianapolis."

"Lots of people have asked me," he said, "why the McNamaras confessed. Let me tell you briefly. I notified District Attorney Fredericks immediately after the arrest of J. J. McNamara that they were first going after the judge, then himself, then me, then my men, then the witnesses and then the jury. They were going to try to bribe us. They took one look at the judge and didn't tackle him; they didn't like his looks. They liked my looks better and then they tried my men and the witnesses."

Mr. Burns told of various incidents in regard to attempted bribery of witnesses, and said that Mr. Phillips, the man who turned over the dynamite, not only withstood six attempts at bribery, but was even threatened with death unless he would go away. He said that the man who carried the message to Mr. Phillips finally told all about it.

"When they finally reached the jurors," he stated, "they were caught red-handed, and they had to plead guilty to save men higher up."

He brought his remarks to a close with the statement:

"When an investigation is made of this McNamara fund there will be a stupendous scandal, but it will never be accounted for, because they dare not show where it went."

A WARNING TO MANY

Some Interesting Facts Regarding Health Statistics

Few people realize to what extent their health depends upon the condition of the kidneys.

The physician in nearly all cases of serious illness, makes a chemical analysis of the patient's urine. He knows that unless the kidneys are doing their work properly, the other organs cannot be brought back to health and strength.

When the kidneys are neglected or abused in any way, serious results are sure to follow. According to health statistics, Bright's disease which is really an advanced form of kidney trouble, caused nearly ten thousand deaths in 1910, in the state of New York alone. Therefore, it behooves us to pay more attention to the health of these most important organs.

An ideal herbal compound that has had remarkable success as a kidney remedy is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great Kidney, Liver and Bladder Remedy.

The mild and healing influence of this preparation is soon realized. It stands the highest for its remarkable record of cures.

If you feel that your kidneys require attention, and wish a sample bottle, write to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Mention this paper and they will gladly forward it to you absolutely free, by mail.

Swamp-Root is sold by every druggist in bottles of two sizes—50c and $1.00.

MRS. G. CORNWALLIS WEST

London society leader, who is planning to reproduce her Shakespearian exhibition in this country.

LONDON, Jan. 19.—Mrs. George Cornwallis-West, formerly Lady Randolph Churchill, announced to-day that if the success of her Shakespeare exhibition scheme warranted it, she would reproduce the big show in the United States.

"My great hope," she said, "is that if my exhibition be a big success, as I think it will be, I want to reproduce it in America, for there are just as many lovers of Shakespeare there as elsewhere. If we go to America it will probably be at the close of the London exhibition."

20,000 ATTEND POLICE DANCE

Machinery, Exhibition and Grand Halls in the Mechanics Building last night proved inadequate to accommodate the 20,000 people representing every district of the city and many of the surrounding towns, who attended the largest and most successful ball the Boston Police Relief Association has ever held. In anticipation of the enormous crowd, Machinery, Exhibition and Grand Halls had been engaged, but all three proved inadequate before the dancing started.

The halls were decorated with flags and bunting. Conspicuous among the decorations were the shields of the sixteen divisions and a blue pennant of the police department. Among the guests were Mayor Fitzgerald, Police Commissioner O'Meara, Superintendent Pierce, Fire Commissioner Daly, Sheriff Quinn and members of the Executive Council.

The evening's entertainment was opened by a concert. The closing number was the "Police March," composed by George W. Goodwin, a member of the Boston force, and dedicated to President Charles M. Tighe of the association.

Sergeant Henry Hazlett of Division 6 was chief marshal, and his assistants were Patrolmen George H. Mitchell of Division 6 and Henry J. Lange of Division 2. The following patrolmen acted as aides:

Division 1, John D. Kelleher; Division 2, William J. Nealon; Division 3, Thomas M. Hynes; Division 4, William O. Cheniwen; Division 5, Edward A. Ryan; Division 6, John T. O'Dea; Division 7, Samuel J. Kelly; Division 8, Edward F. Blaney; Division 9, Timothy F. Kellard; Division 10, Robert M. Coughlin; Division 11, William C. Norton; Division 12, John A. Dorsey; Division 13, Albert J. Nott; Division 14, Francis A. Gorman; Division 15, Charles S. Bartlek; Division 16, Edward C. Carty.

LUCY DODGE WASN'T THERE TO GREET THE PRINCESS "PAT." And Ottawa is talking about it, for, once upon a time, in England, the former belle of Ottawa won a dancing partner away from the Princess. Imagine the Princess "Pat" being jealous! There is a story about it in the Sunday AMERICAN.

SECRETARY NAGEL TO SPEAK HERE FEB. 2

Secretary of Commerce and Labor Charles Nagel will speak at the annual dinner of the Boston Chamber of Commerce February 2. Mr. Nagel is in deep sympathy with the desire of securing business men to make existing government agencies more useful to commerce and to create possibly a new semi-official body analogous to the British Board of Trade. It is expected that in his address here Secretary Nagel will present in some detail his views upon this important subject.

U. S. TROOPS REACH CHINA

PEKIN, Jan. 19.—The first battalion of the Fifteenth Regiment of United States Infantry, which will act as a guard for the protection of a section of the railroad from Pekin to the coast, arrived at Chinwangtao to-day on board the transport Logan.

Widespread panic prevailed throughout the capital to-day while the imperial family was again in conference debating whether the Manchu dynasty should abdicate. Chinese agitators scattered over the city spread rumors that the Manchus had decided to turn their troops on the unarmed natives and massacre them. As a result thousands fled in terror.

Fears of a general massacre by Manchus following the public announcement of the decision of the conference led to extraordinary precautions. Nearly all the foreign residents gathered at their legations, and others stood in front of their residences, while Premier Yuan was blocked with soldiers.

NORDAU WRITES ON RUSSIAN TREATY

LONDON, Jan. 19.—The Jewish Chronicle prints a letter from Max Nordau, the noted writer, with reference to the abrogation of the Russo-American treaty. In it he says that President Taft could not help denouncing the treaty, but managed to do it in such a way as to enable Russia, ingeniously to affirm that the passport question had nothing to do with it.

HOW WOMAN WON HERO REWARD

ROCHDALE, Jan. 19.—Mrs. Delia B. Powers of this town, has been awarded a bronze medal and $1,000 toward the purchase of a home, by the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission.

On December 9, 1909, three-year-old Joseph Kennedy fell on the railroad track on which a passenger express train was rapidly approaching. Mrs. Kennedy rushed to his assistance. She stood between the two sets of tracks, just a few feet from where the child lay. She crouched down and rolled the baby toward her, getting him three feet from the rail as the train rushed by. Another train stood on the East bound track and the space between the two trains was only about three feet. Neither the woman nor the child was injured.

MRS. HASKELL FAILS TO PROVE CHARGES

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 19.—Charges brought by Mrs. Olga von W. Haskell, divorced wife of William B. Haskell, formerly of Boston, against Wilfred Storer Sheldon-Dickson, whom she accused of stealing her diamonds, valued at $2,950, in November, were thrown out of the district court. The State had put in all its testimony when the attorneys for the defence moved dismissal on ground of lack of evidence, and the judge in dismissing the case declared the evidence too circumstantial to warrant it going to a jury.

MRS DELIA POWERS

Mrs. Powers has been awarded $1,000 and a gold medal for saving a three-year-old baby from death on railroad tracks.

TO GET MEN TO GO TO CHURCH

Boston's percentage of men and boys attending churches was declared to be low to-day at the meeting in the interests of the Men and Religion Forward Movement in Park Street Church. In proportion, it was lower than many little towns surrounding Boston where the generality of people have more religion than they have in this city.

"Boston standard with the men and boys attending churches is much lower than many of the little towns surrounding this city," asserted Frederick S. Goodman of New York, one of the leading men in this movement. "If I should give an average, I should state ninety-two men and boys out of every hundred are not in any close touch with the churches. This will surprise you, but it only shows that we need to do better work among the churches right here in this city.

"There should be more co-operation between laymen and clergy in the churches, and there should be greater harmony between the different societies in the churches. They should work together for a common end. Ministers are compelled to do many trifling things which could be done by a child of ten years old. We are wasting the time of many ministers by giving them small things to do.

"Establish union training classes in the churches and make suggestions to the men in every church through these classes. Use the newspapers more, and give all the publicity that you can to the work of the churches. Make the people feel in the neighborhood that the church is a real live commodity and wants to do good in the place and you will get the interest of all the people."

BUILDING IS BLOWN UP WITH DYNAMITE

PUEBLO, Colo., Jan. 19.—A dynamite explosion early to-day wrecked the Colorado Laundry, in the heart of the business district of this city, and damaged the office of the Pueblo Express across the alley. Detectives who immediately began an investigation, found a dynamite fuse in the alley connected with the express office.

MISS EDMANDS IN A HOSPITAL

Miss Violet Edmands, former fiancee of Clarence V. T. Richeson, the condemned murderer of Avis Linnell, is a patient in the Gray Gables Hospital at Philadelphia, according to a dispatch from that city today.

This hospital specializes in treatment of women for all forms diseases. Miss Edmands has been there three weeks, being taken there immediately upon her arrival in Philadelphia. She was escorted there by friends who had made previous arrangements for her admission to the institution. When she entered the hospital she appeared not to be suffering severely. Today she was not in a state of nervous collapse.

The hospital authorities will not admit that Miss Edmands is a patient, but admitted that a woman registered as Miss Edmands is a strictly private hospital, and maintains that only the persons such as are entitled to reception of patients are entitled to any information whatever as to the refusal to admit that Miss Edmands is at the hospital is regarded as merely a routine affair.

Though a patient, Miss Edmands is not obliged to stay in the hospital. She has been shopping several times.

Thomas Garland Richeson, father of the man who is in the Charles Street Jail under sentence of death for the cold-blooded poisoning of Avis Linnell, will stick by his son to the end, and will come to Boston to see him before he dies.

"I am his father and I will stand by him through all," said Mr. Richeson, according to dispatches from Amherst, N. H. "I want him to know that I have hopes that I will stand by him and not desert him now. I do not uphold him in his sin, but he is degraded and disgraced; I am his father, will always be his father."

Mr. Richeson seemed to care more for what his son would think when he saw that his father had deserted him than for what people would believe.

Swift Favors Execution.

Attorney-General James W. Swift has come out in favor of capital punishment, and favors Richeson's execution.

The Attorney-General said Snell, whose sentence to the electric chair had been commuted to one of life imprisonment, confessed just before his death in the State Prison five years after the crime that he had not only killed Kirby, but that he had been guilty of four other murders.

As to Howard, whom the Attorney-General said had protested his innocence to the time the verdict had been reached, even wearing a jaunty air in the courtroom and attempting to flirt with women who had attended the trial, Mr. Swift said since Howard had begun his life term in the State Prison he had confessed decoying his wife to the lonely spot, strangling her to death and then kicking her body into the harbor, where it was found floating the next day.

"Judging from the news in the papers and from the conversation one hears about him while riding in street cars and in trains, there appears to be no subject more vital at the present than that of capital punishment," said Mr. Swift. "I am not going to argue the matter, but I will show you why, since ten years ago, when I felt that capital punishment ought to be abolished, I have changed my mind.

"From a large number of murder cases which I have been connected as a prosecuting officer, each one might be used as an argument in favor of retaining capital punishment. I believe that it should be retained to remain for important cases of murder.

Richeson's Crime Fiendish.

"There is, however, a class of murders so far beyond what I call ordinary murder in their inception and execution, that their perpetrators should be given the full penalty of the law.

"Let us take the Richeson case for example. I have heard hardly anyone say aught but that that man should die. People are even saying: 'I'm not in favor of capital punishment, but Richeson should die.'

"The crime in its inception was so cold-blooded, so devilish, that any person with a heart or a head has such a revolting sensation that it overcomes any feeling that might apply to any case of ordinary murder.—From statement by Attorney-General Swift.

RIP VAN WINKLE IN REAL LIFE

NEW REDFORD, Jan. 19.—S. Chandler Rogers of Seattle is in a state of coma at the Emergency, where he was taken after collapsing in the Public Library.

A letter found in his pocket shows his case to be a celebrated one. The letter is addressed to the Redemptorist Fathers of New York and signed by Rev. George Mahoney of the Redemptorist Fathers of Seattle, and reads as follows:

"Dear Confreres—This note will introduce you to Mr. S. Chandler Rogers, a very good friend of mine, who is visiting his old home after a long absence. He has been attached to the Redemptorists in Seattle that he is anxious to become one, mixed with them in other cities also.

"You have probably read something of his remarkable career in the daily papers. About two months ago he underwent a surgical operation here for brain trouble, and when he awoke found himself a bewildered stranger in a strange land, a veritable Rip Van Winkle, another personality entirely, with no recollection whatever as to what happened during the past fourteen years.

"I have frequently conversed with him, questioning him very closely about his past life, and I am convinced that he is absolutely sincere and honest in his statements. Physicians here declare that his case is without a parallel in the annals of medicine in the United States.

"He is now waiting for his relatives and the friends of his boyhood days in New York. I am sure you will be pleased to do any assistance you may be able to give him in the search. "George Mahoney."

About seventeen years ago Rogers was attacked on the way home from a dance in New York, thrown into the river, and after being rescued was sent to a hospital.

He apparently recovered from an operation and in a short time he was married. Soon after the birth of her first child he was injured again and when he recovered his wife was sitting at his bedside. He failed to recognize her and although he was closely questioned he could not recall anything that had occurred during the fourteen years since the first accident. He appeared to be was waking from the first operation instead of from the second.

DYNAMITE WRECKS BUSINESS BLOCKS

GRAND FORKS, N. D., Jan. 19.—Dynamite exploding in a business house here resulted in the destruction of the Masonic Temple, several stores and other business houses.

CALL WOMEN IN OSBORNE CASE

BROCKTON, Jan. 19.—Mrs. Harry C. Howard, wife of Mayor Howard; Mrs. William H. Towers, wife of a local Democratic leader and herself prominent in St. Patrick's Church, and Mrs. Edward Gilmore, wife of the district campaign manager for Governor Foss, will be summoned as witnesses against Patrolman Chester W. Osborne, against whom charges have been preferred by Ex-Representative Edward Gilmore and Ex-Alderman William H. Powers.

They will be expected to give testimony to refute the statement made prior to the municipal election by Patrolman Osborne to the effect that he saw Mr. Gilmore and Mr. Powers leave the house of Mayor Howard at 3 o'clock one morning ten days before the election.

The nine ladies will give testimony to assist their husbands in establishing an alibi for election night.

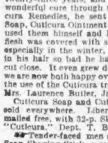
The hearing will be next Tuesday morning at City Hall, and will be public. Patrolman Osborne is under a suspension of thirty days. Mayor Howard having charged him privately with making an untruthful statement regarding the alleged visit of the clerk to prominent leaders.

Gilmore and Powers brought the same charge this week, and also charged the patrolman with being illegally married, claiming he married Miss Nettie Bevis September 4, 1903, within two years after he had been divorced from his first wife.

Osborne and his wife were married again yesterday by Clinton Packard, assistant city clerk, in the latter's office, Judge Charles C. King having requested the clerk to perform the ceremony without waiting five days as required by the new law. Patrolman and Mrs. Osborne were accompanied by their two children.

SKIN TROUBLE TOOK HAIR OFF HER HEAD

Suffered from Birth with It. Grew Worse Instead of Better. Husband Had Salt Rheum 23 Years. Both Happy Over Cures through Cuticura Treatment.



Chesterfield, N. H.—"I have suffered from birth with skin trouble. I used several kinds of patent remedies, only growing worse instead of better. After using them a long time I was so bad that it took the hair off my head, and even my eyebrows too, and made my eyes so bad that I was kept in a dark room for several weeks. I was out of my head for a long time. When a friend came to see me, she told me to get some of the Cuticura Remedies and she knew they would cure me, so I got some packages of Cuticura Ointment and Resolvent and used them and was cured. That was about two years ago, and I have never had a touch of it since. This is a miracle for my father's family was always addicted to this trouble, a dread disease.

"Also my husband had had salt rheum for twenty-three years and I got him to send such a wonderful cure through the use of the Cuticura Remedies, he sent for some Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment and Resolvent, and used them himself and he was cured. His flesh was covered with stuff like fish scales, especially in the winter, and he even had it in his hair so bad he had to keep his hair cut close. It even grew down on his face, but we are now both happy over our cures through the use of the Cuticura treatment." (signed) Mrs. Laurence Butler, Jan. 10, 1911.

Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment are sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address, "Cuticura," Dept. T, Boston.

Tender-faced men should use Cuticura Soap Shaving Stick, a sanative luxury.

GREED OVERCAME RICHESON, DECLARES WOMAN

MRS. L. DOW BALLIETT TELLS WHAT A POWER HE MIGHT HAVE BEEN.

By BERT FORD.

"As I found the natural qualifications and characteristics of Clarence Virgil Thompson Richeson by my system of vibration, of long range, I find that he might have made himself a power for much good in this world, but instead, by betraying his better instincts, he became one of the greatest menaces of modern times—a truly colossal criminal."

Mrs. L. Dow Balliett, principal of the School of Psychology and Physical Culture at Atlantic City, N. J., and author of "Hidden Sight," "Nature's Symphony," "Philosophy of Numbers: Their Tone and Color," and kindred works, clenched her hands, and the steam from her kindly eyes gave emphasis to her words.

Mrs. Balliett is in Boston to lecture today before the Metaphysical Club in Huntington Chambers. She received the writer last evening in the front parlor of Dr. Hebard's suite at No. 122 Huntington avenue. She is a woman of exceptional intellect and power of personality, and she wore a pink silk gown of regal pattern.

Her philosophy, or cult, or fad, call it what you may, has among its tenets a devotion to colors which calls for harmony in dress; hence her tint of attire, which was becoming to a woman of her stamp and animation.

"This man Richeson," began Mrs. Balliett, in an attitude suggestive of soliloquy," is abnormal as we view him today, mentally and physically. How I should like to study him at a close range! What a psychological problem he presents! What a foolish path he let himself into! How degraded he became! And yet the world owes him a grain of pity.

"It looks now very much as if he must die, but what good will come of it? Why not let him live within prison walls to atone, if possible, as he asks?

"Perhaps he may be able to furnish a psychological treatise, of his own crime and sufferings which humanity may find profitable.

Fire and Water Planes.

"That is itself may prove an experiment sufficiently strong to commute his sentence, out at least it should be made a factor in the plea for clemency.

"My philosophy is based upon the theory of reincarnation. We live in three planes. Richeson began his present round of existence in the very highest realm of vibration.

"It was his duty and privilege to have remained there and to have forged into a purer, perfect state.

"He possessed the qualifications. He had gained and passed the earth plane and was in what we term the 'fire' plane when his error got the better of him and he sank into an abyss that defies his name and rends with grief the hearts of those of his life—his poor old father and the rest.

"The 'water' plane was ahead of him. Had he remained steadfast who can tell to what heights he might have soared. But fire and water make steam—a dangerous element without proper exhaust and control.

Pastor Showed Strength.

"He was ambitious. Ambition is a dangerous agency. Unless temperately negotiated it leads to ruin. Richeson craved wealth and social prestige, and to get it he robbed a slip of a girl of her life—coldly poisoned her.

"Yes, it was a most atrocious crime! It was the act of a man who tumbled from an exalted place. If he hadn't been an unusual man his crime or his fate wouldn't have excited such widespread interest—international, I believe.

"And right here permit me if you will to pay Richeson, the doomed preacher, a little tribute. He confessed. What a saving to the State and what a balm to the public mind. There is no longer any doubt. Let me add that a weaker man could not and would not have confessed.

"Stanford White, and others who have figured in sensations of comparatively recent date were all found by deduction, in the higher vibration of life, superior beings to the natural qualifications, but frailty is that we mortals cannot make the best of the material at hand and climb rather than digress. Richeson is the latest in the roll of dishonor.

Number of Vibrations.

"Let me ascertain the number of his vibrations in Nature's symphony. Clarence Virgil Thompson Richeson, you say, his full name is?

"Well then, under each and every letter in his name I shall place the number designated—so! Under C, I place the figure three, under L the figure three; a figure two; r figure nine, o figure five; n figure five, c figure three and e figure five, making a total of thirty-five.

"Now, as thirty-five is not a digit, add the three and five and we have No. 8 as the sum total of Clarence.

"Next we'll take Virgil. Under V, I place four; nine under I; nine under r; seven under g; nine under i; three under l, giving a total of forty-one, and the four and one merged give us a digit, to wit, five over Virgil.

"Next Thompson, with two under the T; eight under the h; six under o; four under m; seven under p; one under s; six under o and five under n, giving a total of thirty-nine.

"It is necessary under the system to add the three and nine, which makes twelve, and the one and two merged give us a digit of three over Thompson.

Placing the Numbers.

"We place nine under R; nine under i; three under c; eight under h; five under e; nine under a; six under r; two under d; nine under s, giving a total of forty-six which with the four and six added gives us ten and dropping the cipher leaves a digit of one over Richeson.

"Now we take the eight over Clarence, the five over Virgil, the three over Thompson and the one over Richeson and we derive seventeen, the digit of which is eight. This do we ascertain Richeson's vibratory number, which is a great big eight.

"According to my history of the mission of birth, force No. 8 speaks in the voice through the substance of many things:

C vibrates 3—expression.
A vibrates 1—unity, creation.
N vibrates 5—life and sex.
A vibrates 1—unity.
R vibrates 9—soul expression.
Y vibrates 7—earth and its experiences.

28

2—Collects.
6—A cosmic mother.

8—Freedom and resurrection.

Color Is Yellow.

"Richeson's color, therefore, is yellow. The color, canary, represents the free 8 vibration and holds within its system the gold of 2, the green of 4, and a touch of the scarlet from 6. All of these are mingled together in unity, like the blood of differing races.

"This color is found in many of the gorgeous stones as well as in the opal, which is the messenger of canary. This color is found in fire, earth, air and water and is a messenger from all realms.

"I find that he might have been a man among men if he had been less greedy and impulsive. He was too high-spirited, too high strung, to quick tempered, too prone to let the animal instinct predominate.

You Don't Need a New Stomach

You Can Now Look Any Meal Square in the Face, and Then Just "Go For It," If You Take Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Trial Package Sent Free to Prove It.

The stomach will go on patiently for years enduring abuse, overwork and general ill-treatment. So we're apt to think it can stand anything. But when the stomach does rebel, look out!

"Every Meal Smiles at Me Now Since I've Been Taking Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets."

The minute the stomach ceases to perform its functions properly the whole body begins to suffer. The food is only half-digested, the body only half-nourished. And the undigested portion of the food ferments and decays, generating nauseating gases which derange the whole system. The eventual result is chronic dyspepsia, heartburn, bad breath, dizziness, flatulency and sick headache.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets instantly relieve all ailments of the stomach and digestive tract. They act quickly, safely and naturally—just like Nature herself. They contain in themselves the elements which go to make up the natural gastric juices. They actually digest the food, relieving the stomach of all the hard work. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the stand-by of many a doctor in the worst cases of stomach trouble, and they never fail him.

All druggists carry and recommend Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. They are sold at 50 cents a box. If you want to try them first, we will send you a trial package free on receipt of your name and address. F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

JEFF, IF I COULD ONLY GET MY WIFE TO LISTEN TO ME I COULD PERSUADE HER TO TAKE ME BACK BUT I CAN'T GET A HEARING. SHE THROWS ME OUT BEFORE I CAN OPEN MY MUSH
WELL, LET'S TRY TO THINK OF SOME SCHEME TO MAKE HER LISTEN
I GOTTA SCHEME, MUTT! WALK RIGHT IN THE DOOR AND WITH OUT SAYING A WORD, SWING OUR RIGHT AND KNOCK HER OUT - THEN WHEN SHE'S COMING TO, TALK TO HER FAST. SEE?
I'LL WAIT FOR YOU HERE
THAT'S A GREAT IDEA! I'LL TAKE HER BY SURPRISE AND THEN TELL HER MY WHOLE STORY, WHILE SHE'S GROGGY
HERE HE COMES BACK! HE WASN'T GONE VERY LONG
I MISSED HER!

FIRE DESTROYS CHELSEA PLANT

A two-alarm fire, supposed to have been of incendiary origin, destroyed the two story brick building occupied by Pierce, Butler & Pierce Manufacturing Company of Syracuse, N. Y., on Everett avenue, Chelsea early today and caused a loss estimated at $8,000.

The building was situated in the centre of a number of wooden buildings occupied by the Eastern Storage Company and the George H. Buck Lumber Company. These were threatened by the flames and only the lack of wind saved the whole section from being wiped out.

A door at the rear of the building was found open and this led the police and firemen to believe the blaze had been set. The building was used as a storehouse and was filled with heating appliances and other furnishings. The lower floor was in flames when the blaze was discovered, although Night Watchman George Higgins, who said he passed the spot an hour previous, did not see any fire.

On account of the dangerous locality Chief Spencer called out the entire fighting force of Chelsea. Ladderman Edward Riley of Ladder No. 1 received a cut on the right hand by falling glass and Lieutenant Frank Tucker of the Police Department was knocked down and slightly injured by the bursting of a hose.

INSPECTION DAY AT TRUCK SHOW

By J. C. KERRISON.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—This, the second and last day of the motor show, found the visitors seeking ever to inspect the "internals" and gain the very best of knowledge, not so much on economy as on efficiency.

As one merchant remarked, "Economy is desirable, but it is not necessarily such as will save us a big sum of money, but that which will give us an opportunity to give our customers efficient and necessarily speedy service. That is what we want."

No better or more practical illustration of this is to be found than the great collection of motor trucks seen in Madison Square Garden today. It embraces every imaginable kind and gives the prospective purchaser ample latitude for his explanation.

Some of the Big Trucks.

The Commer truck for instance is big and powerful. The gears, shafts and connecting dog clutches are made of Chrome steel. The chassis frames are made of acid open hearth high manganese steel. The crankshaft is very much enlarged at the flywheel end. The clutch is of the cone type with a leather face.

A gold plated rear chassis is the most conspicuous feature of the Lippard-Stewart Motor Car Company's exhibit. The chassis has been completely overlaid with gold leaf.

Every part—frame, springs, motor, transmission, clutch, axles, steering gear and wheels—has been covered with pure gold leaf. Even the smallest bolts, nuts and screws have not been overlooked.

The Lippard-Stewart line includes but one chassis of 1,000 pounds capacity, fitted with different bodies for various lines of business. The chassis design includes sliding gear transmission, multiple disc clutch, ball bearing rear axle, magneto ignition, and left hand drive.

Special for Plumbers.

The Sullivan Motor Car Company is exhibiting a Plumbers' Special delivery wagon of a capacity of 1,500 pounds. It has an eighteen horse power motor. Another model is of 1,000 pounds' capacity and is fitted with a full wood panel top. It also has an eighteen horse-power engine.

The Dayton Auto Truck Company of Dayton, Ohio, is showing a 1½-ton truck, a three-ton truck and a five-ton truck. The engines are thirty horse-power, forty-five horse-power and sixty horse-power respectively. They are of four cylinder, vertical, water cooled construction.

Schacht chassis of two, three and four ton trucks are on exhibition. The engines are of four cylinders, water cooled.

The Speedwell exhibit shows one four-ton and two of one six-ton trucks this year. This is their second year in the commercial field and the builders have been very successful.

Light Delivery Wagons.

The big six-ton coal wagon is one of the most interesting trucks in the Garden and it has admirable features.

The main thing that notices right away is that it is very easily operated, thereby not only saving time in reaching a place with a load, but by means of levers and cogwheels the bed is raised and lowered quickly. This truck is handled in Boston by the Curtis-Hawkins company.

Prominent among the light weight delivery wagons is the Buick line, which is recognized as one of the very best in its class and which by its make-up has great reputation for itself in New England—some 600 of them being in daily use there.

The Buick has evidently given absolute satisfaction in whatever service it has been called to perform and the Boston branch of the company has no end of recommendations for the little wagon.

The Brush truck is likewise here. It is the smallest of the Detroit factory products and is handled in Boston by F. E. Parker & Company.

The simplicity of the motor is a factor that commands the attention of the thousands of people who need a small vehicle that can make speed and delivery. It has plenty of power for its needs and it sells at a low price.

Hewitt Truck the Biggest.

The Mehrtyre trucks are to be found from one ton up to three tons. At the show there are eight models displayed. The chassis exhibited shows that the company has adopted a worm drive and is operated and cannot be put out of order by drivers who lack a technical knowledge of motors.

The Cutler car is the only friction-drive truck in the show. So well has this principle worked out in the pleasure car field that the makers determined to offer it on trucks as well.

The Hewitt is handled in Boston by Williams Bros. of Jamaica plain.

An echo of the Glidden and AMERICAN motor truck is heard at the Morgan display. One of the winners of the five-ton truck trophy captured in that run by the Morgan truck.

BRANDEIS HITS TRUST 'SLAVERY'

A race of slaves is growing up to the United States under the power of the trusts, Louis D. Brandeis declared in an address on "Trusts and the Sherman Law" at a dinner given in his honor at the Boston City Club.

"This race," he continued, "is in many ways worse off than slaves, because the intelligent master knew that he had to protect his slaves as a matter of financial interest.

"Can anything bring such degradation to the American people as does this terrible condition of affairs? Social unrest is manifesting itself more and more as a result of this inequality, and its terrible effects are being felt by the American people. Such outbreaks of violence as those in Lawrence are the result of this unjust use of power.

"No people in the world so need combination as do the laboring men of America. They are absolutely helpless and only by combining many of them together with their meager powers can they stand up for what they believe to be their rights. Wrong they are many times, but the surprising thing is that they are not wrong more often.

"If they are not permitted to combine they are absolutely helpless, and yet every one of those organizations of which I speak, preeminently the Steel Trust, have made it their business assiduously to emulate everything that even looked like unionism in any of their shops.

"The effect of all this has been to drive the American out of this business, because the American will not. He can help it, work under such conditions. Of the 90,000 steel workers in this business 60 per cent. of the people are foreigners by birth, not, as here and in New York stopping at the ports of entry, but scattered all over the country, some of them thousands of miles from the port of entry. And 40 per cent. of these steel workers are unable to speak or to understand the English language.

"Socially, the laboring classes which I have described have become a menace. Socially they have been the doers of terrible injustice, and we American citizens must join in the effort to see that justice is done. That is the real trust problem."

Senator George F. Baron presided. Speeches were also made by Senator Claude K. Allen, Senator George L. Barnes, James J. Heal, Frank G. Hayes, Patrick O'Loughlin and H. Staples Potter.

Stage Beauty Tells Secrets of Youth

(Theatre Review in The Arch.)

"I have often wondered at Jane Clayton's youthful beauty. In a burst of confidence she told me her complexion was due to a lotion which she makes by dissolving a small original package of mayatone in a half-pint of witch hazel. Massaging with this has kept her skin clear and satiny and preserves its girlish bloom.

"Her long, wavy and lustrous locks are due to dry shampooing. She says she never has time to wash her head and would not if she could, because wet shampoos make the hair dull and lifeless. A dry shampoo leaves the hair soft and fluffy. To make the dry shampoo, she puts a cupful of corn meal in a fruit jar and mixes with it the contents of a small original package of mayatone. It brushes out easily and takes all dirt with it.

A Common Skin Trouble

Eczema is the most annoying and most common of all skin diseases. One-third of all skin troubles are eczema in one of its various forms. The best known treatment is the new remedy, Cadum. It is soothing and antiseptic stops the terrible itching of eczema at once and begins healing with the first application. Cadum can be used with confidence in skin and scalp troubles of adults and infants, and has proved a blessing to thousands who have suffered for years from tormenting and disfiguring skin diseases. Cadum is antiseptic, prevents infection from disease germs, and should be in every home for prompt use in skin troubles. Of druggists, 10c and 25c per box.

BROWN CHINESE STUDENTS BROKE

PROVIDENCE, Jan. 19.—Brown's four Chinese students are up against financial stringency. The rebellion in China has put such a crimp into Chinese exchequers, both public and private, that they are confronted by a complete cessation of funds from home. Shing Funn Fay, a freshman, is "strapped." He has seen no money from China since October, and for more than a month has been working around at odd jobs to pay for room and board.

ONLY 347 DAYS NOW LEFT, GIRLS

Nineteen days gone, girls, only 347 left, and then—

Will you or will you not? That is the little question for the popping of which the AMERICAN will pay twenty-five dollars.

What seems to be the trouble with the girls? They must not lose their courage. Just as a fellow sometimes does, when he is about to propose to his sweetheart.

In New England there must be at least one couple already married as a result of the girl taking advantage of the great opportunity offered by leap year.

Girls, do not be backward in coming forward to make your acknowledgment. It is an unusual thing for any girl to propose to a bashful beau, when leap year presents itself.

After you have proposed and the parson has tied the knot, come into the office of the Boston AMERICAN, show the entire the marriage certificate and tell him that you have been married as a result of your proposal. Twenty-five greenbacks will be handed to you and soon and your hubby will be much happier when you are hearing.

Talking Machine

With all the tonal qualities of a $200 Instrument

With a full outfit of 12 double-disc records (24 selections)

For $59

Delivered, subject to three days' free trial, backed up by a signed guarantee and $5 a month will pay for it and in every case we will add, absolutely free, our special "Demonstration" Double-Disc Record

The Offer:

We agree to deliver to any address in Boston one of these Grafonolas, together with an assortment of 12 double-disc records (24 selections) to be selected by us, or by you if you prefer. In addition we include, free, one "Demonstration" double-disc record.

The machine and the records will be sent on three days' free trial to any home in the city.

So confident are we that the instrument will please even the most critical, that we agree to refund all money paid by any purchaser who may not in every way be satisfied with the instrument.

An unconditional guarantee as to material and workmanship accompanies each instrument sold, the guarantee being signed by the manufacturers and countersigned by us.

This is the first offer of this sort we ever made. We do it now because we intend either to place a Grafonola in every home in Boston, or at least give every householder in Boston an opportunity to own one.

The Instrument:

This beautiful Grafonola "Favorite," the first instrument of this latest improved type to be offered at anything like its price, is probably the best that its price will ever buy. It seems pretty clear that the limit has been reached. As a musical instrument, it is all that any musical instrument can be, and all that those costing $200 can claim to be.

The cabinet is built of the choicest mahogany (or of beautiful quartered oak) polished like the costliest piano.

The "Favorite" plays any size of record—three at one winding, and can be rewound while running, the motor being a powerful triple-spring drive, absolutely silent and always positive and reliable. The tone arm leads the sound waves from the reproducer into the sound chamber, where it is amplified and poured out through the front, subject to reduction in volume by the partial or complete closing of the double doors. The start-and-stop lever is combined with a speed regulator lever, all in handy reach. The turn-table stands above the top of the cabinet when the lid is raised, admitting easy access to the record and needle.

It is an instrument that any man, of any means, may be proud to own and use for a lifetime.

The Records:

The outfit of records we have selected from the best selling and most popular of all classes, and includes the famous Sextette from "Lucia" and the equally famous Quartette from "Rigoletto," which ought to be extremely interesting to any of your friends who own talking machines and have paid $13 for those two selections alone.

You are at liberty to make your own selection of records if you prefer.

In addition to those 24 selections, we will give you, free, one of our "Demonstration" double-disc records, which everybody admits is worth at least sixty cents of any man's money. All of these records are guaranteed to be superior to all others in tone, in surface and in durability. They will outwear any other make of records almost two to one

GLOOM STRIKES WILSON BOOM

By JAMES J. MONTAGUE.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Although the managers and friends of Governor Woodrow Wilson are counseling together concerning the report of the Professor's repudiation of Colonel Harvey they have as defined in effect at this time. They did give out a letter from Senator Newlands to a Nevada constituent which praises the professor, but which does not refer in any way to the incident that constitutes the chief topic of conversation among Democratic politicians.

Among Professor Wilson's former boosters there was a feeling of regret; first, that the Harvey incident gave the speed, and second, that it should have become public.

A dozen Senators who discussed it came to the conclusion that it disposed of any hopes for advancement that the professor may have entertained. Mr. McCombs, Governor Wilson's manager, who was here in his interests during the Democratic National committee meeting, is in Washington again, conferring with the former Wilson boomers. Nothing was given out.

Mr. McCombs said he had nothing to say. He had come to Washington, he said, on an errand entirely foreign to the Wilson-Harvey incident, and did not see why he should be expected to say anything.

He referred inquirers for statements to Thomas J. Pence, who is the correspondent of Josephus Daniels's Raleigh newspaper, and said Pence was going to give out a statement. The only statement Pence gave out was the Newlands letter.

A magazine writer from New York, who came to Washington to secure material with which to help the Wilson cause, remained to explain the Wilson side of the controversy.

Wilson, he said, had acted like a very hero in the interview with Harvey. He had felt for some time that he and Harvey must part sooner or later despite the fact that they had traveled very pleasantly along the political path up to the present time.

When at last Harvey asked him if he (Wilson) thought that the Harvey support would hurt him, Wilson folded his arms, looked Harvey squarely in the eye, and replied more in sorrow than in anger that he thought it would.

This, the magazine man said, both Wilson and all his friends regarded as the absolute height of heroism.

The Shakespearean students in the Senate and House are busy with such passages as:

"Ingratitude, more strong than traitors' arms, quite overcame him," which is one of a piece that Mark Antony spoke at the funeral of his late friend, Caesar. "How sharper than a serpent's tooth it is to have a thankless child," which King Lear quoted as saying when reflecting on his ungrateful family.

There were other expressions about "Benefits forgot" that were quoted quite liberally.

Colonel Watterson will reach here this evening and is expected to refute the conversation between Wilson and Harvey more in detail to any Democrats who wish to hear it. There are many such in the Capitol.

Neither Champ Clark, Oscar Underwood, nor any of the men who have been mentioned as presidential possibilities would express themselves publicly on the affair.

Representative Stanley of Kentucky left of his energetic labors on the Steel Trust Investigating Committee long enough to say:

"It looks to me as though somebody had dropped Mr. Wilson's bread butter side down."

LEADERS NOW SEE LITTLE CHANCE FOR GOVERNOR WILSON

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 19.—St. Louis Democrats who looked with favor upon the candidacy of Governor Wilson of New Jersey for the presidential nomination are stunned by the publication of the Watterson statement. The general opinion was that it had made Wilson's nomination extremely improbable.

On top of the Watterson letter it has been brought to light here that Governor Wilson wrote a letter on July 6 last strongly indorsing the statewide prohibition in Texas. Copies of the letter as published in Texas papers at the time, and the authenticity of which has never been questioned, it is said, were exhibited by prominent Democrats as proof of the statement.

It seems that as the prohibition movement in Texas warmed up, John N. Edwards, a former St. Louis newspaper man who was conducting the publicity end of the anti-prohibition campaign, conceived the idea of appealing to the presidential possibilities of both parties.

In a little paper called Facts, published in Dallas, he printed portraits of the men most prominently mentioned for both the Republican and Democratic nominations with the statement that all of them opposed statewide prohibition.

This statement was challenged by the Rev. Dr. D. R. Hankin of Dallas, editor of a publication called Home and State, which was devoted to the prohibition.

RENEW SEARCH OF HOTEL RUINS

Following the recovery of the body of Miss Annie McDevitt, a ditch washer who perished at the fire in the Revere House, a search of the ruins was renewed today for the bodies of three more possible victims. Two of these were women, Susan Doherty, sixty, and Gertrude Wilson, who was recently released from the State Farm and went to work in the hotel laundry the day preceding the fire. The third body is that of a man who has not been seen since the fire.

Miss McDevitt has an aunt, Mrs. Rose McGonigle living at No. 5 Burke's court, East Boston. The Doherty woman has a nephew in the Home hospital at Charlestown. As far as it is known the Wilson woman has no relatives living.

Miss McDevitt, who was head of hearing, secretary to her room, Medical Examiner Magrath declares she was probably killed by smoke as she ran through and over the four stone doors into the courtyard where her body was recovered. The Doherty woman is believed to have lost her life trying to save Miss McDevitt. Her body and that of Miss Wilson are thought to be buried beneath the feet of debris here, but simply as Miss McDevitt's remains were found and will probably be removed today.

It was learned to-day that the Revere House had not been inspected since January 31, 1890. This was revealed in the report of Building Commissioner Everett who investigated the matter of inadequate fire escapes at the instruction of the Mayor.

The building was inspected again, the report says, one year later, but simply to see that the means of egress had been made as directed the previous year.

GOLD STAMPEDE IN DEADLY COLD

DAWSON, Yukon, Jan. 19.—With the temperature 60 degrees below zero, the stampede to the new gold diggings at

INDIGESTION, SOURNESS, DYSPEPSIA AND ALL STOMACH MISERY GOES.

There would not be a case of indigestion here if readers who are subject to Stomach trouble knew the tremendous anti-ferment and digestive virtue contained in Diapepsin. This harmless preparation will digest a heavy meal without the slightest fuss or discomfort, and relieve the sourest, acid stomach in five minutes, besides overcoming all foul, Nauseous odors from the breath.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula plainly printed on each 50 cent case of Pape's Diapepsin, then you will readily understand why this promptly cures Indigestion and removes such symptoms as Heartburn; a feeling like a lump of lead in the stomach, Belching of Gas and Eructations of undigested food, water brash, Nausea, Headache, Biliousness and many other bad symptoms; and, besides, you will not need laxatives to keep your stomach, liver and intestines clean and fresh.

If your Stomach is sour and full of gas or your food doesn't digest, and your meals don't seem to fit, why not get a 50-cent case from your druggist and make life worth living? Absolute relief from Stomach misery and perfect digestion of anything you eat is sure to follow five minutes after, and, besides, one case is sufficient to cure a whole family of such trouble.

Surely, a harmless, inexpensive preparation like Diapepsin, which will always, either at daytime or during night, relieve your stomach misery and digest your meals, is about as handy and valuable a thing as you could have in the house.

POSTPONE BIG ICE CARNIVAL

The AMERICAN'S grand ice carnival, which was to be held on the Charles River Basin to-morrow afternoon, has been postponed to next Monday afternoon at the Boston Arena, St. Botolph street.

This change is necessary on account of the warm weather and its effect on the river ice.

The carnival will begin at the same time of day, 2 o'clock. The doors of the Arena will be opened in plenty of time to allow seating. Admission will be free to all. Spectators will be seated as fast as they arrive.

The change of time and place will in no way interfere with the splendid carnival program. The Boston Arena has the finest and biggest indoor skating surface in the country. Spectators will be able to see everything to advantage. In fact, in the Arena seats, they will be nearer the contestants than the would have been on the river embankment.

See the Sunday AMERICAN for full entry list, numbers of contestants and final details.

156 Enter Contest.

Entries for the skating races closed this noon. Thirty-one more entries were received in addition to those published yesterday. These brought the total entries up to 156.

The hockey game, which is to form one of the big features of the carnival, will be played between the First Corps Cadets and the Pine Tree hockey team of Milton. The Cadet team is a cracker-jack. The Pine Tree seven is made up of former college stars at hockey. The game promises to be fast.

There will also be a curling match between two strong teams. The ancient Scottish game of curling will be a novelty to many spectators.

The hockey and curling matches, however, will be only a part of the elaborate carnival program.

Six Skating Races.

There will be six skating races. Three of these will be championship races for men, as follows:

Quarter-mile dash.
Two-mile race.
Five-mile race.

There will be three "open-to-all" events. They will be:

Half-mile race for boys, eighteen or under.
Quarter-mile race for boys, twelve or under.
Half-mile race for girls.

Among the special events will be an exhibition race against time by William H. Merritt of St. John, N. B., professional world's champion skater.

Gordon Thompson of Spring Hill, N. S., amateur skating champion, will be there with a challenge to any New Englander for a skating match or for a leaping match on skates.

More Entries Received.

The full list, with numbers the contestants will wear in the races, will be printed in early edition of the AMERICAN to-morrow.

The thirty-one entries received, in addition to those printed yesterday, are as follows:

Frank P. Donnelly, 7 Spencer st., Dorchester, ¼, ½ and 2 miles.
Frank Lewis, 86 Chestnut st., Boston, ½ mile (18 years).
V. M. Gelignon, 208 Boylston st., Boston, ½ mile (18 years).
Alexander Medlund, 96 Spencer st., Dorchester, ¼ and 2 miles.
William Carlin, 25 Flagg st., Cambridge, ¼ mile (18 years).
Royal Dunnale, 7 Spencer st., Dorchester, ¼, ½ and 2 miles.
Joseph Pelerine, 29 Warren av., Boston, ¼ mile (18 years).
William Twining, 296 Main st., Medford, ½ mile, ¼ and ½.
Hosea Bailey Want, 26 Parker st., Cambridge, ¼ mile (18 years).
Fred A. Eaton, 35 Amara st., Revere, ¼ mile (18 years).
Philip Bilenberg, 62 James st., Roslindale, ½ mile (18 years).
Dewey Worthington, 6 Greenville st., Boston, ¼ mile (18 years).
Charles W. Case, 3 Newbury st., Boston, ¼ mile (18 years).
Joseph Boser, 214 Bremen st., E. Boston, ¼ mile.
Lloyd Wingerter, 72 Hamilton st., Dorchester, ¼ mile (18 years).
Jack Sullivan, 71 Carver st., Boston, ¼ mile.
Frank Soltz, 829 Portland st., Cambridge, ¼ mile (18 years).
Edward Laugter, 12 Deavis st., Dorchester, ¼ mile (18 years).
Helen Sloan, 260 Princeton st., Boston, ¼ mile.
Miss Bateman, 104 Harvard st., Cambridge, ¼ mile (girls).
Georgia Lathrop, 104 Harvard st., Cambridge, ¼ mile (girls).
Leo Flint, 70 Cambridge st., Cambridge, ¼ mile (18 years).
Miss Sears, 977 Washington st., Boston, ¼ mile (18 years).
Alice Stewart, 736 Cambridge st., Cambridge, ¼ mile.
Timothy Kelley, 47 Olive st., Cambridge, ¼ mile (18 years).
James F. Hixon, Fresh Pond A. C., Cambridge, ¼ mile (18 years).
George Patterle, 28 Field st., Roxbury, ¼ mile (18 years).
Leo Finn, 68 Auburn st., Boston, ¼ mile (18 years).
Harold Domenichelli, 2 Sumner st., Dorchester, ¼ mile (18 years).
C. H. Carter, 146 Hemenway st., Boston, ¼ mile (18 years).
H. B. McPherson, 88 Homer st., E. Boston, ¼ mile (18 years).
William O'Toole, 17 Oregon st., Roxbury, ¼ mile (18 years).

Mann Will Referee.

The AMERICAN announces to-day the referee and other officials for the carnival races. They include the following well-known authorities on sports:

Referee—Matthew Mann, Brookline Gym. A. A. and supervisor of swimming for Town of Brookline.

Judges—D. S. Adler of Brookline Gym. and N. E. A. A. U.; J. L. Mason, director of Brookline Gym., and J. A. Scott of Brookline Gym.

Clerk of Course—Stanley Phelan, treasurer Brookline Gym. A. A.

PITTSBURG WIVES BOYCOTT BUTTER

PITTSBURG, Pa., Jan. 19.—Aroused by the soaring price of butter, housewives of Pittsburg, led by the Congress of Women's Clubs here, have started a thirty days' boycott on the product, and the organization's secretary has been instructed to carry the fight throughout the country. It was the Women's Club Congress here which inaugurated the meat strike several years ago, when prices were high, and it was effective for a time.

"Use no butter for thirty days and we'll make these butter merchants come down off their perch." This is the appeal that will be contained in hundreds of pamphlets calling housewives of the city to a mass meeting at which the high cost of living will be denounced.

Mrs. Enoch Rauh, one of the leaders, thinks Pittsburg should build stands along the Monongahela wharf for farmers to use in selling directly to consumers. Others want an appeal made to Congress for an investigation.

MUCH COLDER WEATHER DUE

Fair and much colder to-night and Saturday; brisk southwest to northwest winds.

This is the official forecast of the weather forecaster on top of the Federal building.

All along the Atlantic coast the weather is very unsettled and rainy. It is very cold in the upper Mississippi and Missouri valleys, below zero, in fact. There are snow flurries in the Lake regions.

The temperature is above the average in New England and eastern New York, but will be much colder to-morrow.

The coldest spot in the United States at 8 o'clock to-day was Moorhead, Minn., with 22 degrees below, while the warmest place was Key West, Florida, with 74 above.

800 AT SACRED HEART REUNION

The annual reunion of the parishioners of the Sacred Heart Church, Roslindale, of which Rev. John F. Cummins is pastor, was held last night at Intercolonial Hall on Dudley street, Roxbury. About 800 attended. For the dancing Robert J. Lomasney was floor marshal, assisted by Edward J. Coughlin. The aids were Maurice J. Angland, William Bisnan, Frank Cosgrove, Joseph Cunningham, Thomas Donlon, Richard J. Donnelly, Leo Fair, William Faulkner, Thomas Flynn, William Friars, Patrick Gately, Joseph Hollerin, George E. Larkin, William Lindley, Joseph Landry, Frank Manley, Louis T. McGinn, Thomas Morrison, John O'Connor, John O'Hara, James Phelan, Thomas B. Regan, James Sweeney and William Gebhardt.

TO CHARTER SHIP FOR OLYMPIC ATHLETES

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—At the suggestion of Colonel Robert M. Thompson, president of the American Committee of Olympic Games, negotiations have been opened to secure a ship upon which to take the team representing the United States to Stockholm, where the international games will be held in June and July. If this idea is carried out the ship will be used by the American athletes as a hotel during their stay in Stockholm.

NEW CUNARDER HAS ANTI-ROLLING TANKS

The new Cunarder Laconia, the sister ship of the Franconia, and which was built for the Boston-Liverpool service, sailed Liverpool to-day on her maiden voyage for this port. After one trip to the Mediterranean she will enter the Boston trade on March 26. The Laconia was launched Oct. 7. She is 625 feet in length, 72 feet of beam, her gross tonnage is 18,000 and her displacement is 25,000 tons. The Laconia will be the first British steamer and the first transatlantic liner to be fitted with anti-rolling tanks.

HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS SENT BACK AT AVON

AVON, Jan. 19.—The sending back of eight boys and girls from the high school to the eighth grade of the grammar school caused a big protest to-day from the parents. The parents claim that the students received their diplomas and were formally graduated from the grammar school, and, therefore, should not be sent back there. The school officials say the action was necessary because the eight students did not come up to the standard set by the State Board of Education.

16-PAGE JOKE BOOK, HANDSOMELY BOUND, FREE (IN GREATER BOSTON) WITH SUNDAY'S AMERICAN.

A handsomely bound joke book, with colored covers, illustrated by Tad, the famous comic artist, inventor of the "Daffydils" and "Silk Hat Harry," the biggest comic hits New England has ever known, will be given FREE (in Greater Boston) with every copy of Sunday's AMERICAN. This is the most interesting supplement offer ever made by a Boston Sunday newspaper. As the number of joke books is limited, it will be well to order your paper in advance from your newsdealer.

DOCK STRIKE ON THIRD WEEK

To-day begins the third week of the longshoremen's strike. Conditions are practically unchanged, and both sides are determined to fight to a finish.

A prominent steamship agent said to-day that $50,000 would be a very conservative estimate of the loss to the steamship companies since the strike began. Twenty-two steamships have been delayed sailing, in the aggregate about ninety days, at an average cost of at least $500 a day.

The steamship companies are not only losers, however. It is estimated that the shippers, especially shippers of perishable goods, during the excessive cold weather lost about $15,000 or more.

The loss to the railroads through demurrage of freight cars runs from $6,000 to $8,000, while the loss to the strikers in wages amounts to about $30,000.

There are thirteen ships in port to-day, six except three of them expect to sail and several a week over due on their sailing time. The Leyland liner Bostonian for Manchester is a week overdue and the Armenian of the same line for Liverpool is six days over her sailing time. The Armenian will probably not be able to sail until next week.

The Longshoremen's Trade Council declared to-day that not one man has deserted the ranks of the strikers. They say they are prepared to continue the strike during the entire Winter season and next Summer, if the steamship agents refuse to concede their demands.

SOCIETY LEADERS SEE MILLIONAIRE'S PLAY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—"Revelation," a play written by Preston Gibson, the millionaire playwright and promoter of the Playhouse Club, was produced by a company of professionals before a distinguished audience. Prominent in the audience was Mrs. Barney Henwick, the rival society Belasco, who is contesting Washington thespian and social honors with Mr. Gibson. Mrs. Henwick occupied a box with a company of friends. Other box holders were Mr. and Mrs. Percy Belmont and the Brazilian ambassador, Senor Da Gama. Others present were Miss Helen Taft, Mrs. Elizabeth Hammond, Postmaster General Frank Hitchcock, Mrs. Robert Roosevelt and Philip Sheridan.

NERVOUSNESS

Mr. Elmer E. Warwick, a foundryman, of No. 108 Ash street, Albion, Mich., says:

"I had an attack of the grip which left me in a very weakened condition. Soon after my legs began to have numb spells and darting pains went through them. Little by little I lost the use of both legs. I had to lie in bed for four or five weeks. For a year I was out of work because I was unable to get around. I had a doctor from Detroit look me over and he said there was no show for me; another doctor said that it was only a question of time when I would die. I kept running down. My stomach and digestion seemed affected by the paralysis. I could keep nothing on my stomach except raw eggs. I was extremely emaciated and a nervous wreck. I read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People in a paper and took them for six months because I saw that I was improving after I had used the first box. At the end of that time I was entirely cured of paralysis and my general system was restored to a healthy condition. I don't know how many boxes of the pills I used but I do not begrudge the outlay as it was much smaller than the other treatments. I have never had any recurrence of the paralysis and am now in good health. I owe my life and health to the painstaking and long-continued use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I believe they are the best remedy for paralysis."

There is absolutely no way of reaching the nerves with medicine except through the blood. The nerves receive all of their nourishment and support from the blood, which under healthful conditions, carries the elements needed to rebuild wasted nerve tissue.

Every person who is interested in the home treatment of nervous disorders should send for a new edition of our free booklet entitled, "Diseases of the Nervous System."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain no harmful or habit-forming drugs, and the sufferer who gives them a trial will avoid the danger so common in taking drugs which only deaden pain.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

HUNDREDS OF TURKS KILLED

LONDON, Jan. 19.—A news agency today received a report of an attack by 5,000 Turks on Italians who were engaged in repairing the water supply at Derna on Wednesday. The Turks were repulsed, hundreds of them being killed. The Italians had three killed and seven wounded.

BIG BUSINESS HILL'S SLOGAN

ST. PAUL, Jan. 19.—Adoption of the principles of "Big Business" is urged upon the seven States of the American Northwest in their campaign for immigrants and colonists, by James J. Hill, of the Great Northern.

ACUSHNET OFF TO SHIP'S AID

NEW BEDFORD, Jan. 19.—The United States revenue cutter Acushnet in response to a "hurry call" for assistance, commanded by her crew and sailed to-day for Pollock Rip Shoals, where it was reported that a schooner was helpless in the ice with signals of distress flying.

THE DINGBAT FAMILY IS HAVING A NEW SERIES OF ADVENTURES DON'T MISS THE DOINGS OF THE DINGBAT FAMILY IN THE SUNDAY AMERICAN.

BEATTY GIVES BOWLERS TIPS

It is Beatty, the star boss of the candle pin alleys in New England, living in our midst, with the game carried off so many times in tournaments that he has lost count of them, is one of the foremost directors of the Boston AMERICAN Bowling Championship Contest.

Be it known that Bill is proprietor of the Club at WEST END and is so famed in the land of finding the champion pin tosser that in a coat with the words I BE [illegible] some wanter in [illegible] coming after the alleys and put on for official sanction in bowling the preliminary of qualifying to all of the consecutive strings.

Full particulars of the contest be given that the pins are twelve inches apart on the base of the pin, and the width of the alleys 41½ to 42 inches and the width from 3 to 3½ inches.

In order that the contest be equal to the bowlers, each alley is being carefully examined and measured by a board appointed by the Boston AMERICAN and all are warned that they will be disqualified if they do not conform to the rules as laid down.

Mort Moody a Hustler.

By the way, Mort Moody, manager of the Donohue Corner Alleys in Lynn, took an active part in the Bowling Contest. His rapid-fire contest had aroused the ardor of the fans as no other thing in the sport has within memory.

In order that can to boost the contest in every way Mr. Moody has on the scoreboard in the alleys the notice that each and every bowler can get free from AMERICAN Bowling Championship Contest, and to assist the patrons keep a track of AMERICAN Contest use in filling in the entrance coupon.

The Bowling Editor has found since coming with Mr. Moody that he is not alone in the high regard other alley owners and managers are doing for the bowling fraternity and the AMERICAN is to be congratulated on the game that has ever existed.

Showing the wide interest taken in the contest, scores of other papers throughout New England have published official accounts of the AMERICAN Bowling Contest, which proves a great aid to the bowling public.

It is expected that Lawrence, New Bedford, is going to be right in the contest with the [illegible] bowling champions of New England for the right to have the duck pin championships in their city in the finals for all the money in the pot.

Among the names is William Kirkham [illegible] president of the New Bedford Duck Pin League, and [illegible] the local secretary of the same league.

Lawrence, it is [illegible] up to wake because they city is now [illegible] the one eligible in New Hampshire. In a letter the fact is set out that they have four of the best alleys in the State, and a list of bowlers capable of holding their own with those from other places in New England.

With this recommend for Laconia it has been added to the list for New Hampshire, so it is now up to their bowlers to rush along the entries.

Salem, Mass., too, registers a complaint for being left out. Perhaps the reason is that no New Bedford bowler has been in the field, and Chas. Cypers, of Haverhill, Peter Hamel, of Lowell, and other cities in the [illegible] Salem can do some [illegible].

Salem is looking to be said [illegible] Frank Lucas, of Lynn, Mass., and Alfred Bowler, who for the [illegible] game Heath, the [illegible] Salem, [illegible] in his alley to get after the [illegible] AMERICAN contest [illegible] certainly the talk of all.

Herbert W. Crockett, of the Monument Square Alleys in Lynn, Mass., is a full [illegible] the success of the contest. He writes the [illegible] keen for the bowlers, and [illegible] entry is coming from Portland [illegible] Augusta, Me., from George Mc[illegible] Lord Hooper and others prominent in the sport.

The entire [illegible] is one from W. H. Dudley Hoover, one of the stars of the Boston team [illegible] and leader in the Duck Pin League.

Thomas [illegible] of the Bijou alleys, Quincy, says that he will [illegible] his two strings on the night of January 22 and [illegible] at Weber's Alleys.

The three [illegible] L. L. Swan No. 200 Commons av., Boston; Lloyd D. Shaw [illegible] Beacon st., Boston, and Hudson Arthur Bushnell, No. 604 Beacon st., Boston, Mass. [illegible] from [illegible] squares. Above the coupon is printed Lucas, Reywell, Edward J. Kemler and J. Schiffin.

Facts for Bowlers.

The Boston AMERICAN Bowling Championship Contest has for its object the picking of a champion for the sport. To the winner the AMERICAN gives $100 in cash or the amount in money if they [illegible] to accept a prize, which is worth [illegible] round.

The [illegible] qualifying round [illegible] at [illegible] scored with [illegible] and [illegible] have been [illegible] finished [illegible] round.

Every [illegible] in an entry will receive in return mail a card [illegible] certificate [illegible] he is eligible, and [illegible] card [illegible] to the [illegible] bowler [illegible] strings. Each [illegible] manager will [illegible] the [illegible] of the bowler, and [illegible] the scores for each [illegible] and total of the five strings on the card, sign the [illegible] and have two reputable citizens who have [illegible] strings bowled sign their names.

Use the blank printed in another [illegible] The highest [illegible] with the two [illegible] strings in the final, ten strings [illegible] consecutive games.

Referees and [illegible] will be appointed for the [illegible] and finals.

Duck pins [illegible] will be used on a [illegible] to be selected [illegible] the following [illegible] and [illegible].

THE great trouble with men and women of all ages, married and single, is that they don't understand each other. Each sex is a mystery to the other, and each sex is constantly misjudging the other.

Men and women never look at each other from the same standpoint. They see each other through different eyes, and they are governed by different motives.

Why, Indeed?

But it has been great fun watching a fight as one would box with gloves on.

Castile from Old Castile

Laco is genuine, imported Spanish castile soap made in Old Castile, Spain, where this kind of soap originated.

There are castiles and castiles. Some made of an inferior grade of olive oil, others only "near" castiles containing less than 10 per cent. of olive oil.

Laco Castile Soap contains only absolutely pure, highest test olive oil—no adulterants, no animal fats, no perfume. It is the highest grade castile soap you can buy.

Even a "good" castile is recognized as better than ordinary soaps. Why not buy LACO and get the best?

CLAUDE, YOU ARE A HERO, AND I LOVE ONLY YOU

A terrible drama is about to be enacted. Desperate deeds will be shown upon the screen. Mute pictures will doom Desmond. The camera cannot lie. Truth and justice must prevail. The audience is breathless. In a moment the moving picture machine will throw upon the screen a record of Desmond's rascally acts of crime.

Ah! a flash upon the screen! Sensational scenes, startling scenes. But what is it? Nothing but a miserable "ad." Even in the desert advertising pays, and Reckless Hardy Shavus cannot resist the chance to get in a few knocks for Sando Soap. Naturally this annoys the audience, and everybody makes a racket to show that action is desired. So Reckless Hardy passes on to the next.

All is excitement. Now for some startling scenes. But what is it? Nothing but a miserable "ad." Even in the desert advertising pays, and Reckless Hardy Shavus cannot resist the chance to get in a few knocks for Sando Soap. Naturally this annoys the audience, and everybody makes a racket to show that action is desired. So Reckless Hardy passes on to the next.

After the "ad" of Sando then comes a little boost for Benny Sheik, the prominent candidate for Alderman. But what is it? Nothing but a miserable "ad." Even in the desert advertising pays, and Reckless Hardy Shavus cannot resist the chance to get in a few knocks for Sando Soap. Naturally this annoys the audience, and everybody makes a racket to show that action is desired. So Reckless Hardy passes on to the next.

By way of letting Benny Sheik know their opinions, all hands jump in and begin to wreck the entire building. This is pretty tough on the proprietor, who had no idea that Mr. Shavus would show any films, but those dealing with the crimes of Desperate Desmond, and for this purpose also the crowd had assembled. However, this does not help the proprietor out on the damages.

It is now Desmond's opportunity, and, needless to say, he does not fail to take advantage of it. Tearing off a large piece of the screen, the international crook disguises himself as an Arab, and, with the departing crowd, he quietly makes exit. Again the plans of Claude have gone adrift, and the whole work of cinching the villain has to be begun all over again. A hard life for heroes.

"I'm the boy!" cries Desperate Desmond, "and I can prove it." He advances to the attack with fervor. Turkish friends, but Claude has the aid of Reckless Hardy Shavus and a machine gun. Of course, Shavus is a help, but he doesn't quite equal the machine gun as an inspirer of confidence. For the full result of the fight, you must look at these pictures tomorrow.

The Story of the New Play by George Broadhurst

TO-DAY'S INSTALMENT

By John A. Moroso

Copyright, 1911, by George Broadhurst.

"DOES that make the degradation any the less?" she asked, her voice trembling. "When I married you did I become your property? Do you own me? Have I surrendered all rights in myself? When you placed a wedding ring on my finger, did it mean that I forfeited my free will? If so—then—then marriage is horrible!"

"The law says that a husband"—

"The law! The law!" cried Virginia indignantly. "Always remember this: The minute a husband even mentions his legal rights, it shows that he has lost his moral rights—and the moral rights are the only ones that count."

Her voice broke to one of pleading, and she cried pitifully to be allowed to retire to her room.

"Don't cry," he said. "Just be a nice girl and a good little wife, and in the morning you can go down to our jeweler's and get anything you wish. Anything—never mind what it costs."

Virginia resented this bitterly and, with a flushed face, said:

"No wonder you talk of buying me. If I did that, where would I be any better than a woman of the streets? Where?"

She started for the door.

"You're not going to leave me?" he asked.

"I tell you I am."

"The least you can do is to kiss me good night; then you can go."

"You promise me?"

"Yes."

She approached him and kissed him.

"Again!" he cried with a laugh as he pressed back her head.

She struggled in vain. His lips, reeking with stale wine, reached hers.

She tore herself free and rushed to her room, locking the door behind her.

Stafford went to the door.

"Let me in," he commanded.

There was no answer.

He went to the fireplace and took an heavy pair of brass tongs, lifted them and smashed in the centre panel of his wife's door. He reached inside, with a laugh, and turned the key.

The shattered barrier flew open.

AT dawn, Stafford lurched from his wife's room, through her boudoir and, with difficulty, unlocked the door to the hall. He found the lights bright in his own room and the faithful Oku asleep on a pallet at the foot of his bed.

The Jap was awake in a second and on his feet. With the physical skill of his race, he guided his master to a seat, deposited him in it and began to prepare him for bed.

Stafford's mind was blank. He was capable of only the most perfunctory physical effort.

In a few minutes he was in bed, breathing stertorously and filling the room with the fumes of wine.

At 8 o'clock Josephine, Virginia's maid, went to her mistress's room and found her awake and staring at the ceiling. She had not closed her eyes.

Josephine arranged her bath and, seeing that her mistress had not slept, she massaged her scalp, blanketed her tired face with hot towels and soon had her refreshed in some degree.

Virginia had no heart for adorning herself. She took the simplest of her wrappers and went to her boudoir where she could sit in the sunlight and have her hair dressed.

Her toilet finished, Virginia ordered Josephine to bring her jewel case and the book in which she daily made an inventory of the veritable treasure in gifts her husband had made her.

"They are all here, madame, save those are in the safe downstairs, and only John has the combination besides yourself," said Josephine.

"Tell John to bring those that are in the safe to me," she instructed the maid.

Virginia checked up the jewels in the case and, when John appeared with those from the safe, she added those to her list and placed them with the others.

She had completed her task when Fanny entered.

"I'm so sorry about last night, dear," said her sister.

There was the atmosphere of domestic tragedy about the boudoir. The carnation that had fallen from Stafford's hand lay wilted on the floor. The two empty wine glasses and the half-filled bottle of champagne, the broken panel in the bedroom door and the chairs pushed out of their places, all gave mute testimony of a house disordered.

"Don't say anything more about it, please," said Virginia.

"Have you seen him this morning?" asked Fanny.

"No."

"Then you don't know how he is?"

"Yes; from previous experiences. He will be repentant and will remember nothing that has happened."

Her voice was thin and worn.

Paid Ugly Price

Virginia had been paying an ugly price for her riches.

"But after all's said and done, dear," Fanny said, "he is your husband."

"He let me know that last night," replied Virginia bitterly.

"Well, that makes it all right, doesn't it?" asked Fanny.

"Not if merely makes it legal."

"Legal?"

"Yes. Vicious old men of seventy marry girls of seventeen, but does that make their relations right? Avaricious young men in their twenties marry women in their fifties. Does marriage make their relations right? No; marriage merely makes them legal. The legal thing is always the right thing, Fanny. I have learned that."

Fanny patted her sister on the shoulder and tried to soothe and calm her.

"A marriage certificate has nothing to do with the morality of a marriage," said Virginia, with a sob. "Only love and respect make marriage sacred."

Fanny found her sister's offices vain and kissed Virginia goodby."

Virginia summoned her maid and dressed for the street, calling for the plainest gown she possessed and a hat that she was about to discard.

She was ready to leave the house when there came a respectful tap upon her door. She thought it one of the servants and bade Josephine answer.

Stafford, white of face, dressed for business, stood on the threshold.

He inclined his head to his wife.

"Good morning," was all that he said.

"Good morning," echoed Virginia.

He entered and took a seat at the table, where the line of the wine that had made him insane the night before rested in the glasses.

"Do you mind, dear, if I have Oku bring me some ice water?" he asked.

"No," Virginia replied.

He went back to the door and called sharply to Oku, who was near.

"A pitcher of ice water," he ordered. "Please hasten, Oku."

Oku hurried after it.

Stafford returned to his chair.

"Dearie," he said, "before you say a word, I want to tell you that I'm sorry I was in the condition I was in when I came home last night. I am dreadfully sorry and ashamed."

"I want nothing from the jeweller's," Virginia replied.

Oku brought the pitcher of ice water and a silver goblet.

Drank Greedily

Stafford drank greedily of it and signed to the servant to leave the pitcher and goblet at his elbow.

"Do you know what you said to me last night?" asked Virginia.

"Sweetheart," he begged dumbly, "I was drinking last night, and I'm sorry and apologize. My head is aching dreadfully and I am very nervous. Don't bother me any more than you have to, will you dearie? Be nice to me this morning. Please, sweetheart, be nice and kind to me now, won't you?"

"Last night you said that you had bought and paid for me!" said Virginia.

"But I've explained to you, dear," Stafford pleaded, as a whipped child would beg off from an impending blow with the lash. "Can I do more than apologize? You don't know how ill I am. Be a nice, dear girl and don't scold me. Please, dearie, please."

"You said you had bought and paid for me," she repeated.

"But, sweetheart"—

"It is not the first time you have said it. And the dreadful thing about it is that it is true."

"But it isn't true!" he protested.

"If you hadn't been rich," she said, "I would not have married you, because I didn't feel toward you—the—as a girl should feel toward a man she was to marry."

"Virginia!"

"You know it, and last night you told me of it!"

"But last night I was"—began Stafford.

"The fact remains that you did buy me," Virginia broke in. She rose from her chair at her escritoire and threw back the lid of her jewel case. "These are the things you bought me with," she said, pointing to the gems.

Bought and Paid For

She turned and glanced about the richly appointed boudoir with its scars of the tragedy of a few hours before.

"These are the things, this gold toilet set, this diamond tiara, this ruby bracelet, this diamond ring and that and the others! They are the things you bought me with and now I give them all back to you."

Stafford saw his happiness being swept away with a few firm and decisive words.

"I beg you, my God, my dear, I beg you"—he tried to plead.

To Be Continued To-morrow.

ECZEMA IN EARS SUCCESSFULLY TREATED

Young Woman Enthusiastic About Resinol

The wonderful examples of relief procured through the agency of Resinol have such a wide range that it is hard to even concentrate upon one particular disease without mentioning many others. But here is the word of a young lady in New York, which all should read who are afflicted with that dreadful disease, eczema. Her letter reads:

"I consider Resinol Soap a very superior article in every respect. The Ointment I use for eczema in my ears, and I have urged several who are afflicted with this disease to use it, as I know it would be beneficial to them."

MISS LOUISE RIBLET,
Stamford, Conn.

Write to her. Get her story direct. Begin your treatment with Resinol Ointment. If you've tried everything else without cure, try Resinol and you will see improvement from the start. Resinol Ointment is positive in its action on all forms of skin eruptions as eczema, pimples, erysipelas, barber's itch, ringworm, etc. Resinol Ointment is the best dressing for boils, carbuncles, felons, cuts and all abrasions of the skin. It promptly allays irritation and inflammation and stops itching instantly. It can be used freely on the skin of the tenderest infant. If nothing else has helped you, Resinol Ointment will. PROF. OSLER IS RIGHT. YOUTH SUCCEEDS AGE. GRAY HAIR IS THE FIRST SIGN OF AGE.

Osler isn't the only man who turns down old age. In the business world the "young man" is always the one who picks the plums. It is an age of "new thought," "new talent," etc., and the old man is passed by in the race.

One of the first signs of coming age is the appearance of gray hairs. When you see them, act promptly. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy will correct this sign, which so often deceives people into thinking that age is really upon them. It is a well-known fact that Sage and Sulphur will darken the hair. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur combines these old-time remedies with other agents, which remove dandruff and promote the growth of the hair.

The manufacturers of this remedy authorize the druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

Don't look old before your time. Get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur to-day, and see what an improvement it will make in the appearance of your hair.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

TO-DAY'S STOCK MARKETS

LEHIGH VALLEY MARKET LEADER

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—Chief interest at the opening of the stock market to-day centered in Lehigh Valley, which sold ex-dividend and with privileges to subscribers to new stock. Based on late transactions yesterday, it was estimated that $40 subscription rights would equal about 20 per cent.

The initial sales of Lehigh were made at 165¾, against 154½, including the dividend at the close yesterday, showing a loss on this calculation of ¾ in actual value. Later, however, the price moved up to 166¾.

Trading in the balance of the list was small and the price movements were unimportant. In the first fifteen minutes there were no transactions of importance in Steel common, an unusual occurrence. Canadian Pacific was strong, opening at 231½, an advance of ½ per cent.

Baltimore & Ohio was firm, opening ⅝ higher. Other fractional advances were: Amalgamated Copper ⅜, Erie common ¼, Union Pacific ⅜.

The curb opened quiet and steady.

Americans in London were sluggish, but Canadian Pacific received substantial support.

STATE ST. AND FINANCIAL NEWS

The buying of Western Union which sent it to the highest price in more than five years was attributed largely to the report that it would be amalgamated with the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. On the street the rise was construed to be a possible move by the telephone corporation to prevent any government suit against it as a holding company. But there is more apparent reason for the rise in the increase in Western Union business. It is expected to earn 7 per cent. on its stock in 1912. In 1911-3, but could easily increase the rate to 4.

It is stated that if business continues to come to it for the balance of the month its first-half record for January will show an increase of between 300,000 and 400,000 tons. Orders recently received have exceeded the tonnage capacity of the corporation's plants. Prices continue to hold firm and a rise rather than a decline in them is expected.

Comptroller of the Currency Murray has revised all national bank statements of the reserves of all banks under their jurisdiction for five years past, and he proposes to make all institutions to observe every provision of the law in regard to legal reserves in the future. The state banks have ignored the legal reserve requirements and their examiners and the comptroller in regard to the matter.

Almost all well-posted persons appear to be of the opinion that the annual General Motors meeting will cause German bankers to increase the loans made last year with financial houses in the United States. MARINES TO MARCH EVACUATION DAY

Assistant Secretary of the Navy Winthrop has promised that marines should be ordered from all battleships in Boston Harbor March 18 to participate in the Evacuation Day parade. This was done on the request of Representative Curley of Boston. Mr. Winthrop thought a number of battleship marines or near Boston at that time. Efforts are being made also to have President Taft make a speech in connection with the Evacuation Day ceremonies if he is in Boston that day, as he now plans to be.

OPEN BUSINESS WOMEN'S CLUB

Two hundred men and women attended the "coming out" party of the Boston Business Women's club at the Twentieth Century Club. There were speeches by men connected with some of the large business establishments in the city, especially those employing large numbers of women. Mrs. Mary Moran, the president, was toastmaster.

W. A. Hawkins of the Jordan Marsh Company said that in his store everybody was striving to secure one thing and that was the approval of Elsen D. Jordan. If they secured his approval of their schemes they were sure it would succeed, and this club had Mr. Jordan's unqualified approval, therefore he was sure it would succeed.

J. B. Simpson of William Filene Sons Company warned the club members not to commit themselves to any movement or to take sides on any question. He stood for the equal hearing of all sides of a question, but protested against the club as a club going on record for any question.

C. C. Ferris of Gilchrist Company urged the women to get together, not to be at over their troubles, but to help each other along by their enthusiastic interest in the things they were doing and their certainty of the success of their work.

E. A. Wilkie of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Company said that he represented in a way about 5,000 working women, known to the club members mostly as "hello" girls, but he would like to know them better as humanity.

Mr. Wilkie told of the faithfulness of telephone girls during the terrible hot weeks of last Summer, when girl after girl fell at her switchboard, and was carried out again and again, always rising up against the protest of nurses and physicians with the cry, "I must get back; they need me."

Mr. Wilkie asked the women to consider what would have happened if the girls had gotten into a nervous panic because of the conditions; not only the stopping of business, but to remember the hurry calls for physicians, the calls from New Hampshire, and other places for help for dying babies.

Then he related the story of the brave little telephone girl in Austin, Tex., who stayed by her board, saving hundreds of people and almost losing her own life when the dam broke above her town. This was the humanity he knew.

Professor William Morse Cole of Harvard said that upon the business women depended the continuation of the American home, because through their business training they were under obligation to help the homekeepers to carry on the business of homemaking in a businesslike way. Robert A. Woods of the South End House and Miss Lucy Gardner also spoke briefly.

Miss Florence Marshall, president of the club, announced that the next meeting would be held in February.

WORRY FATAL TO WIFE OF PASTOR

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—Worry over the long-continued fight of her husband to be restored to his pulpit in the North Side Christian Reformed Church at Passaic, N. J., brought Mrs. Vandenheuvel to her bed with a rare disease by which the white corpuscles of the blood are increased. News that he had won a victory brought her such transports of joy that in her weakened condition her heart was overtaxed and she died.

While her death was directly due to happiness, her physician blames the church war for the illness, which almost invariably results in death.

Mrs. Vandenheuvel, realizing the end was near, asked that her friends be summoned, and bade them farewell just before she died.

Nearly everybody in Boston reads the AMERICAN.

FATHER VAUGHAN SCORES DANCES

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—The Rev. Bernard Vaughan, S. J., London preacher and brother of Cardinal Vaughan, told an audience at the Brooklyn Academy of Music that some one ought to play a bass on those who dance the "Apache," the "turkey trot," and other dances now the craze among society folk of America.

"If proper dancing is all the world ever a recognized and much admiring pastime," he said, "improper dancing, on the contrary, is a practice that is intoxicating and, therefore, to be ostracised from every decent vaudeville and still more from every drawing room.

"To anyone with even the most elementary knowledge of physiology it is apparent that the movements of these so-called dances of the 'Apache' character can result in nothing making for righteousness. Men and women do not happen to be machines or mere weights that are thrown about by automata or gramophones. Not even are they objects or lifeless. They are human beings and, unlike asbestos, are very susceptible to fire.

"So-called dances bearing very suspicious names are forces calculated to set youth on end, and it is quite impossible to consider what sort of a patient fire engine cold extinguish such a conflagration, either in this world or the world to come. It would not be out of place to plan just how ready to play on people who dare to defy the public conscience by indulging in vices whose names are recognized to be so injurious to civic morality that there responsible for the moral welfare of our great cities have felt themselves compelled to prohibit such practices in halls licensed for dancing.

"Why, in the name of all nothing that is decent, are these 'trots' and 'hugs' to be tolerated in men and women who come to them hot and feverish from the banquet table? It is, perhaps, the most sacred duty of the citizens belonging to the leisured classes to set not a bad but a good example to our bread-winners and toilers."

COUPON ATLAS SETTLES POINT

An argument arose thewcen two men on an inbound Harvard square-bound street railway car-day about the statement by Hugh Bancroft, chairman of the Boston Board of Port Directors, that Boston is nearer South American ports than any big port in this country, not excepting even New York.

The first disputant said, "I was surprised to see that General Bancroft declared that Boston is nearer Rio de Janiero than New York is. New York is farther South and must be at least as near Rio as Boston is."

The other man replied, "No. General Bancroft is right. Boston is nearer. I've got a map and see for yourself."

It is the AMERICAN what General Bancroft said, and when I got home I looked at the map of the world on the Mercator projection which is contained in my new Census Atlas of the World. I saw that Boston is a little bulge in atlas-making. It is one of the three books of reference included in the new census offer of the AMERICAN.

The New Census Atlas of the World is complete, well arranged, with clean type, containing recent matter brought right up to the last year of President Taft's administration.

IS THERE A STAIN ON YOUR NECK? Mme. Lina Cavalieri, writing in the Sunday AMERICAN, says it may be due to high collars.

Pianos and Musical Instruments.

GIGANTIC SALE —OF— PIANOS Now Going On

This Piano Only $89.

STOCK-TAKING

Sales always mean bargains. At only a few months they mean more. They are almost gifts. There are on our selling floors pianos at prices that wouldn't pay for the cases, to say nothing of the works. But we have been in stock-taking mood, and we've reduced before we take stock, Feb. 1, 1912. Look around and see what other dealers offer you and then come out here and see the tremendous difference in price. You'll be astonished. It will be well worth your time. We sell pianos. Not pianos plus expenses. Make it a point to look us up this week. Delays are sometimes expensive.

Why Is Mr. Everett?

He Draws $5,000 a Year from the City as Building Commissioner—But—Lives Were Lost in the Revere House Fire and, Honestly, What Did Mr. Everett Know About the Revere House Fire Escapes?

Arthur G. Everett, Building Commissioner, Chestnut Hill avenue. He has been an employe of the city since August 20, 1892. He has been Building Commissioner since May 1, 1908. His salary is $5,000 a year.

Boston residents asked to-day what is the matter with the Boston Building Department, of which Mr. Everett is the head.

The Revere Hotel fire, in which one life was lost at least, and possibly two more, and other catastrophes in this city within the past two years, show that there is something radically wrong with the Building Department, and it would seem that it is up to the Mayor or the Finance Commission to take such action as will result in an instant change in conditions.

Photographs printed in the AMERICAN showed that the fire escapes on the Revere House— a hotel in which from 200 to 300 people slept—did not reach within thirty feet of the ground.

Fire escapes of that kind are no earthly good, and it is the business of somebody to see to it that human life is not imperilled by such structures.

Yet it appears from his own statement that Building Commissioner Everett, who is paid $5,000 a year to look after just such matters, did not even know that there were such makeshift fire escapes on this hotel.

Since he became Building Commissioner, more than three years ago, Mr. Everett, according to his own statement, has not inspected the Revere House fire escapes once.

Indeed, he had to dig back into the records of his office for TWENTY YEARS to find any reference to the Revere House!

Read this astonishing report made by Mr. Everett to the Mayor on the Revere House fire:

"On January 31, 1890, an inspection was made of the Revere House and a report of its condition made. On the 31st of January, 1891, a second examination and report were made showing what had been done at the request of this department to improve the means of egress in case of fire. The conditions seem to have been most carefully studied at that time, and means of egress provided that were considered adequate and reasonable."

The conditions of the Revere House were carefully studied twenty years ago, and everything was all right then, says Mr. Everett.

How many other hotels, office and other buildings in Boston have not been inspected for twenty years? How many other firetraps have yawned for their prey for almost an entire generation without a single move on the part of the Building Department to remedy conditions?

The Revere House fire took place Monday night. The next day firemen, policemen and Building Department men scoffed at the idea that there were any bodies in the ruins.

Tuesday and Wednesday passed. At one time there was but one fireman on the job, who dug about the ruins in a sort of careless manner and with no definite object in view.

IF THERE HAD BEEN A LIVE PERSON IN THE RUINS WHAT CHANCE OF LIFE WOULD HE HAVE HAD?

Finally Deputy Chief Neal of the State Police held an inquest yesterday—the fire was on Monday night and yesterday was Thursday—and it was brought out that there might be some one in the ruins.

Then the trustees of the property at their expense sent a crew of wreckers, and these men found the body of a woman.

The Mayor has ordered the Building Commissioner to inspect hotels and lodging houses once a year, hereafter.

But the question is, why have not these places been inspected during the past years?

The Building Commissioner's chief business is to see that buildings are SAFE. He has not done it, according to his own confession.

It would seem that here is an excellent opportunity for the Finance Commission to do some work in the interest of the city.

LETTERS FROM AMERICAN READERS

PRAISES BLUEJACKETS

Editor AMERICAN:

Knowing the AMERICAN is read in more homes than any other paper, I am going to ask you to grant me a small space wherein I may speak a word of praise for our heroes, the American bluejackets. You can travel anywhere, to the four corners of this world, and you will not find a finer class of fellows. Remember, they are the ones upon whom we will depend in time of war. It is our bluejackets who will fight for Old Glory and they all have someone who loves them and who watches and waits for them. They are human, and I want to say that no man would dare insult a girl when a sailor is with her. Respect them and the uniform they wear.

COMMENDS PEACE EDITORIAL

Editor AMERICAN:

It gave me great pleasure to read the editorial in the AMERICAN on the ratification of the treaties between the United States and Great Britain and France now before the Senate. Your strong and concise style, together with your correct reasoning, based on the highest authorities, must have pleased your busy readers; and your prophecy that the treaties would be ratified was good news to all lovers of mankind, who naturally are interested in "Universal Peace."

A proof and meager demonstration is this letter of thanks and appreciation. When one considers that so many of your former prophecies have become realities, it gives some assurance that you are correct this time as well. Some more editorials on the same subject and in the same vein would help matters immensely. As a theme of and for instruction, its value would be incalculable on account of the enormous multitude it would reach and on account of the sadly neglected intelligence of the masses on this all important question.

Your suggestion to write to our Senators advocating the ratification, is a good one and has been recommended by the peace workers right along. But still better: Why not make it a country-wide campaign through your papers in a manner that your readers could voice their sentiments by votes, such as has been done at other times. No doubt the Senate would take notice as well as the war jingoes.

Please give this your earnest consideration, for this is one of the steps and a milestone to mark our march towards the millennium, when all humanity will be well fed, well clothed and housed; a condition of which the humanitarians as well as the thinkers of the world have worked and dreamed for centuries past.

Port Directors Exemplify the New Spirit of Progress and Should Be Supported

The AMERICAN likes the way the Directors of the Port of Boston tackle their job.

If the new spirit which is presiding over us to-day and which was the motive power behind the creation of the Board of Directors of the Port means anything, it means that hesitation, the nervous groping after sure things, the unprogressiveness which would surrender the hope of gain to avoid all risk, has gone from this community.

The people of Massachusetts are not now examining every suggestion to see that it involves no risk. The inquiry to-day is quite different. We want to know now whether the probable gain will justify the possible risk.

We know certain things about the Port of Boston and we know what other communities have done by taking some risk in their expenditures on theirs with less advantages for the increase of traffic than Boston.

We know that Liverpool has spent one hundred and fifty millions of dollars on her port development. We know that Hamburg has spent one hundred million and we know that all these enormous expenditures have paid handsome profits.

We have lagged because we have been in pursuit of sure things. But now having put timidity behind us, we are embarked upon a great enterprise and we should not starve it by niggardly support, or discourage those to whose hands we have intrusted the undertaking, by unnecessarily doubting their judgment.

The Directors of the Port are giving practically all their time to this monumental task and what they ask was well within the contemplation of all of us when we established that Board and placed them upon it.

Let us resolve any reasonable doubts which we may have in favor of the judgment of these special agents in whom we have placed that part of our business.

Stop Looking for Benefits and Favors and Begin to Work

Whoever You Are, Whatever You Are, You Owe a Debt to the World, a Debt Which You Must Pay Sometime, Somewhere

By ELLA WHEELER WILCOX

Copyright, 1912, by American-Journal-Examiner

THERE are many people going through the world trying to do the impossible thing: trying to OBTAIN SOMETHING FOR NOTHING.

It cannot be done.

There is a clause attached to every seeming gift which mortals receive; a clause saying, "For value received I promise to pay."

And every human being either has paid in this life or in past lives for his blessings, or is paying for them, or MUST PAY FOR THEM.

The woman who has beauty must pay the price of suffering, if she does not realize her debt early, and pay interest by turning her personal charms to God's purposes by making herself a power for good.

The whole world is in love with beauty, and the influence of a fair woman, who has intelligence, high aspirations, an unselfish heart and an ambition to make her life worth while, is greater than that of some strong-minded warrior or some man of vast learning, if she but knew it.

Beautiful women are sent into the world to sweeten and brighten and better it. Woe unto her who shall ignore her debt and set forth to make herself a power for personal ends, and who worships, not the Creator who made her, but the mere mortal mold in which she is cast!

Interest shall yet be demanded of her, not six, not ten, but a hundred per cent., and she shall pay in tears and anguish of soul.

The men and women of wealth born to riches need not imagine good fortune is theirs by mere right of birth.

It Is Only Lent Them

It is only lent to them, and they must pay the interest by right living, by humanitarian methods of thinking and acting, and by a full sense of the nobility which obliges, or suffer the final consequences.

Mental gifts, genius, talents—these are dangerous gifts to receive from the Great Giver without a full consciousness that they necessitate a return.

For without this consciousness they become boomerangs and beat to earth those who take them and use them selfishly or thoughtlessly.

Whoever you are, whatever you are, you owe a debt to the world, a debt which you must pay some time, somewhere.

If you are poor and ill and homeless you owe it to the world to show how great is your Divine Self and how you can rise above all such conditions by sheer Will based on Consciousness of the illimitable powers back of you.

Do Not Despair

Once you fully realize this there is no miracle you cannot perform.

Never mind how late in life you begin, do not despair. For every effort you make to build yourself a new body and a new happiness and a new independence shall count just so much on your birthright the next step you take in life.

So start this very day to think of all you owe to the world, all you owe to humanity yet unborn, and all you owe to your REAL SELF.

Stop looking for benefits and favors and begin to work toward that success which will enable you to bestow rather than to receive; to pay debts rather than incur them. And remember, this is

THE LAW.

Life is a Shylock; always it demands
The fullest usurer's interest for each pleasure.
Gifts are not freely scattered by its hands;
We make returns for every borrowed treasure.

Each talent, each achievement and each gain
Necessities some penalty to pay.
Delight imposes inaction and pain,
As certainly as darkness follows day.

All you bestow on causes or on men,
Of love or hate, of malice or devotion,
Somehow, some time, shall be returned again—
There is no wasted toil, no lost emotion.

To every reader of next Sunday's AMERICAN will be given FREE, for the coupon, a splendid portrait, 16x22 inches, same size as this page, of His Eminence Cardinal O'Connell, made from his latest photograph taken in Rome. The portrait will be printed in duo-colored ink on heavy cameo paper, and will be well worth framing.
